Twisters Hit Plains, Midwest; 72 Killed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A massive outbreak of tornadoes slammed at the nation's midsection late Wednesday, killing more than 70 persons, injuring several hundred and leaving a trail of damage estimated in the millions of dollars.

The toll of deaths in the twisters and severe thunderstorms climbed to 72 today, with 48 dead in Arkansas alone. Iowa counted 14 dead, Illinois 8, Missouri and Indiana 1 each.

As expected, the reported toll climbed sharply as daylight broke over the stricken region. Darkness and flash flooding had hampered search operations.

Hardest hit was the northeastern Arkansas university city of Jonesboro which counted 33 dead and more than 350 injured. A twister slammed into the southeastern section of the city at dusk scattering homes like dominoes.

Arkansas State Police reported 10 dead at the little town of Oil Trough, a community of 235 residents which eyewitnesses said was virtually destroyed. Three died at Mountain Home and two were killed at Tuckerman, all within 100 miles of Jonesboro.

The rash of tornadoes — the Weather Bureau reported more than 30 in a nine-state area from Kansas to Ohio — erupted as a strong cold front clashed with warm, humid temperatures in the mid 80s.

Shortly before striking in Arkansas, the wave of twisters raked northeastern Iowa. A funnel cloud roared through downtown Charles City around 4 p.m. Eleven were dead when the storm was over and, police reported, most buildings in an eight-block area were demolished.

Only an hour later a twister whipped into Oelwein, 50 miles from Charles City, striking first at the south edge of the community and then blasting a path through the business district. The highway patrol said two persons were killed in the city, two were missing and a child was killed just north of Oelwein.

National Guard troops were called out both in Arkansas and Iowa. Additional doctors, nurses and blood were flown to stricken parts of Iowa from as far away as Minneapolis.

The storms in Arkansas poured more heavy rain on sections of that state still flooded from heavy downpours earlier in the week.

Tornadoes or severe thunderstorms swept almost the entire length of Illinois, starting before noon Wednesday and continuing into the night.

Hardest hit in Illinois was Freeburg, near East St. Louis, where four died and scores were reported injured.

Two died at Wapella, in central Illinois. Communication was lacking with Wapella, and authorities feared the toll there would go higher. An elderly woman died of a heart attack after a tornado swooped across Natrona, also in central Illinois. A University of Illinois student was electrocuted by a shorted traffic signal in a flooded Champaign street intersection.

Severe thunderstorms sweeping western Kansas and Missouri unleashed several tornadoes in that region as well. One man was killed near Joplin, Mo., when a bolt of lightning struck a tree and jumped to a tractor he was driving.

Tornadoes swiped through central Indiana into the night hours, causing several injuries and considerable property damage southwest of Indianapolis. Baseball-size hailstones pounded some communities just west of the Indiana capital during the storms.

Indiana State Police said Shirley Butcher, 27, was killed when a tornado struck her house trailer near Wabash in northeastern Indiana. Eleven other trailers in the court were demolished but other occupants escaped serious injury.

Injuries and property damage also were reported at Peru, Ind.

Two funnel clouds dipped into Wayne County as lightning, hail and thunderstorms lashed northeastern Ohio Wednesday night.

There were no deaths reported but two men in the Cleveland area were hospitalized, one with a heart attack and another from electric shock.

The Wayne County Sheriff's Department said the funnel clouds touched down three miles west of Wooster in a rural area and "there was nobody around for a mile and a half. An old barn blew down."

Lightning damaged a bedroom in the home of the Rev. Lowell

Steiner in Wooster. No one was hurt.

One home in Berea and six in Parma, both outside Cleveland, were hit by lightning. There was no serious damage.

A tornado watch was in effect from shortly after midnight until after dawn today for most of western and central Ohio, but only thunderstorms and hail were reported. A tornado warning issued for Defiance, Putnam, Van Wert and Paulding counties expired at 4:30 a. m.

The Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. said power was out about six hours for 5,000 homes on the city's West Side and phone service was also disrupted.

25 Killed, 50 Hurt As Quakes Hit Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Two massive earthquakes, striking 10 hours apart, rolled the western Pacific and jolted 600 miles of Japan's eastern seaboard today.

The first quake, in mid-morning, killed at least 25 persons and caused tidal waves and widespread damage.

The second, of similar size and from the same direction at sea, was recorded in Tokyo at 7:42 p.m.

There was no immediate report of casualties from the second shock, but the Central Meteorological Agency warned in radio and television broadcasts that tides from the Pacific would rise about six feet.

The affected areas were the eastern seaboard of the northern islands of Honshu and Hokkaido.

Reserve Fund Nearly Exhausted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some organizers of the Poor People's Campaign say it is as penniless as the thousands of destitute people it is bringing to Washington.

"If we don't get more money, we'll have to stop construction," said the Rev. Bernard Lafayette, campaign coordinator. But he didn't say when.

Lafayette placed the cost of building "Resurrection City U. S. A." now about one-third completed on the Mall near the Lincoln Memorial, at about $3 million. He wouldn't say how much had been spent, but claimed a $100,000 reserve fund is "just about exhausted."

But construction of the shanties seemed to continue at a rapid pace with no evident shortage of building materials. Some staff members said privately they were not aware money was a serious problem.

"The Southern Christian Leadership Conference has been on the verge of going broke since it was founded," one said. Lafayette himself predicted that despite financial problems, the city would be finished.

"We have faith in the American people to help us fulfill this dream," he said.

About 70 senators and House members held a 90-minute meeting Wednesday with the SCLC leader, the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, and his top aides. Participants who commented called it very helpful.

Afterward Sens. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and Rep. Ogden R. Reid, R-N.Y., drew up the framework for a 15 to 17-man House-Senate committee to meet with the protest leaders and mold specific programs.

Abernathy set no price on his broad goals of more jobs, better housing and an end to poverty. Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said private speculation ranged as high as $30 billion.

North Viets Unleash New Offensives

U.S. Casualties Reported at 562 In Last Week

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops launched strong attacks today north of Saigon and in the Central Highlands as the U.S. Command announced that more American soldiers were killed in combat last week than in any week of the Vietnam war.

U.S. Command said 562 Americans were killed, 19 more than the previous record in the week of Feb. 11-17. The U.S. Command reported 5,552 enemy killed last week, no record, while South Vietnamese headquarters said 675 government troops were killed, their third highest weekly toll of the war.

A U.S. spokesman said much of the American death toll resulted from heavy action in the northernmost provinces, where U.S. Marines fought several battles last week around Dong Ha, 11 miles south of the demilitarized zone. The week also saw hard fighting in and around Saigon as American and South Vietnamese forces crushed the second enemy offensive within four months against the capital.

Allied forces reported nearly 400 more Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed Wednesday in clashes from the canal-laced Mekong Delta to the demilitarized zone.

Emergency Bids Set On U.S. 35

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Highway Department today announced an emergency bid opening for May 21 for building the U.S. 35 overpass in Gallia County as a move to expedite construction of a new bridge over the Ohio River.

The new bridge will replace the Silver Bridge between Kanawha, Ohio, near Gallipolis, and Point Pleasant, W. Va. That bridge collapsed last Dec. 15, bringing death to 46 persons.

The new bridge is to be constructed jointly by Ohio and West Virginia.

The three-span overpass will carry traffic from the U.S. 35 Gallipolis bypass over Ohio 7 and will connect with the new Ohio River bridge.

Early construction of the overpass, Highway Director P. E. Masheter said, will permit it to be used in transporting materials over busy Ohio 7 to the bridge construction site, when bridge construction begins.

The overpass will be 200 feet in length and consist of steel beams with reinforced concrete deck.

8 Injured As Truck, Train Collide

EDGERTON, Ohio (AP) — Eight persons were injured when a Penn Central passenger-mail train smashed into a semitrailer truck at a rural dirt crossing west of here late Wednesday.

Five of the injured were train passengers, jolted from their seats by the crunching collision. Others injured were two crewmen and the truck driver. None was hurt critically.

Twelve other passengers on the New York-to-Chicago train were not injured.

Nine cars, including the two passenger coaches, and the three locomotives were derailed. All remained upright, except for one engine, the Williams County Sheriff's Office said.

All the passengers were in the first coach immediately behind the engines. Authorities said the worst damage, was not being used.

Sheriff's deputies said the truck driver, James Flegel of Edgerton, miraculously escaped death as his vehicle—which was carrying a bulldozer—was dragged about 900 feet. Flegel suffered shock and was listed in fair condition in Cameron Hospital at Bryan.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Municipal Court Judge Robert M. Duncan returned guilty verdicts Wednesday against nine defendants arrested early in February during anti-war demonstrations at Ohio State University.

Flooded Mine Pumped Out; 4 Are Dead

HOMINY FALLS, W.Va. (AP) — Six coal miners, trapped nearly ten day two miles deep in a flooded mine shaft, were rescued early today and were termed "all in good shape."

They had been given up for dead since there had been no word from them since they were trapped.

The other four trapped with them since May 6 were found dead and their bodies were due to be brought out later today. Work had continued around the clock to reach the ten men though they were feared dead.

Another 15 miners, isolated a mile away and one mile from the mine's entrance, were rescued last Saturday.

The six were given a quick checkup at the mine entrance by Dr. Lee B. Todd and then rushed to Sacred Heart hospital in Richwood, 15 miles away.

The six reached the mine entrance about 4 a.m. (EDT) and paused for a prayer at the opening of the long horizontal shaft that bores into the foot of a mountain.

At the three-story hospital, the men were shielded from newsmen while doctors checked them and they talked with their families.

The men had to crawl 800 yards through the 36-inch high tunnel to reach a battery-operated mine cart. This took them to a conveyor belt, normally used for hauling coal, and they rode it a half-mile to the mine's entrance.

H. E. Sundstrom of the Gaulty Coal and Coke Co., which operates the mine, said the cart hit a deep hole and jumped the track but he said the three men in it "were in good enough shape to lift it and put it back on the track."

Sundstrom explained that the water which flooded the passage and kept the men pinned in nearly ten days of darkness was drinkable but he pointed out it did have a slight acid content.

Mine officials were mystified on the source of air to the men. "They must have had air coming in from somewhere," he said.

News Strike 6 Months Old

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit newspaper strike has lasted six months as of today with neither unions nor publishers showing signs of changing their positions.

The America Newspaper Publishers Association lists a 230-day shutdown of the Terre Haute (Ind.) Star and Tribune in 1964-65 as the longest ever, but these newspapers combined have less than a 10th the circulation of either the News or Free Press.

Within the past week, negotiations between the publishers and two of the four striking unions have broken off. No talks are scheduled with the other two unions on strike.

The most optimistic predictions are that the more than one million Detroiters who have been without their regular papers since mid-November won't get them back for another two weeks. Some sources predict neither paper will resume publication in the next two months.

Kennedy, Major Opponent Humphrey Exchange Barbs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy—calling Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey obviously his major opponent—says Humphrey offers the voters "Pabulum and tranquilizers."

Humphrey was listed the leader in the Democratic presidential race by the Gallup Poll Wednesday meanwhile and George Gallup Jr. said there has been a shift among young voters in the past month from Kennedy toward Humphrey.

Kennedy, fresh off a 51 per cent to 31 victory over Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy in the Nebraska primary, said of Humphrey: "Obviously, he is the major opponent." Kennedy turned his political guns on the vice president in a speech in Detroit.

"If you want to be filled with Pabulum and tranquilizers, then you should vote for some other candidate," Kennedy said.

Kennedy had repeated in Nebraska he offers the country a change in direction and Humphrey replied to that Wednesday that he was sponsoring progressive legislation "when some people were kind of practicing up for touch football."

The vice president shrugged off at a news conference Kennedy's Nebraska victory and pointed instead to the Gallup Poll indicating he has 40 per cent of the Democratic popular vote to 31 for Kennedy and 19 for McCarthy.

McCarthy said in Rapid City, S.D., his candidacy will be the "most successful political effort since the New Deal" if it brings public judgment on issues including the Vietnam war and priorities for domestic programs.

On the Republican side, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller went to Pennsylvania to woo delegate support for the GOP nomination and found he had 42 of the state's 64 delegates by state party leaders' count.

Sources close to Gov. Raymond Shafer said 5 delegates were committed to former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and another 17 seemed to be leaning toward him.

Rockefeller took issue with Nixon's statement that Congress should not be pressured by the Poor People's Campaign into enacting legislation "from behind a barricade."

The campaign, Rockefeller said, "is just a new form of lobbying" which brings poverty problems into focus and offers a "challenge to the country to find out how to bring these people into the economic mainstream so they can share in its benefits."

The first quake, in midmorning, killed at least 25 persons and caused tidal waves and widespread damage.

The second, of similar size and from the same direction at sea, was recorded in Tokyo at 7:42 p.m.

There was no immediate report of casualties from the second shock, but the Central Meteorological Agency warned in radio and television broadcasts that tides from the Pacific would rise about six feet.

The affected areas were the eastern seaboard of the northern islands of Honshu and Hokkaido.

Police said in addition to the 25 known dead, eight persons were missing and at least 50 injured. Seven Americans at Misawa Air Force Base, in northern Honshu, suffered minor injuries, but no planes were damaged.

It wasn't as bad as it might have been because the quake's epicenter was 93 miles out to sea, off Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island.

The Central Meteorological Agency said magnitude of the quake at its epicenter was 7.8, above the seven-point scale used in Japan. It was the strongest quake since the Sept. 1, 1923, tremor that left much of Tokyo and Yokohama in ruins.

The tidal waves averaged four to five feet, but damage was reduced because they came at low tide.

However, numerous homes and buildings were destroyed, either by the quake or fires that followed it. Hundreds of homes were flooded to floor level or above. Roads were impassable in places, bridges cut, dikes ruptured and railway tracks severed.

Most of the damage occurred in southern Hokkaido and northern Honshu.

Aomori, a city of 210,000 in northern Honshu, apparently was hardest hit. Eleven dead were reported there and more than 80 homes were destroyed.

Paris Peace Talks Recess As Sides Study Proposals

PARIS (AP) — A serious disagreement appears to be developing in the Paris peace talks over re-establishing an effective buffer zone between North and South Vietnam as an important step toward scaling down the war.

U.S. authorities analyzing the problem are reported to believe that the discussions so far show it to be a real issue.

North Vietnamese representative Xuan Thuy, demanded Wednesday that the United States halt all military actions against North Vietnam, including "the bombardment of artillery based in the southern part of the DMZ" as well as air strikes there and elsewhere.

He also demanded that the United States withdraw from the zone, but U.S. officials said neither the United States nor its allies had established bases or sent troops into the zone for other than brief sweep operations.

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The U.S. Weather Bureau issued a tornado watch for northeastern Ohio Thursday, and also for northern Pennsylvania and portions of southwest New York.

The bureau said the threat of tornadoes will exist in those areas from 2 p.m. until 8 p.m. EDT Thursday. A few severe thunderstorms with large hail and locally damaging winds also are forecast.

The bureau said the greatest threat of tornadoes and severe thunderstorms is in an area along and 70 miles either side of a line from 35 miles south of Youngstown to Binghamton, N.Y.

The North Vietnamese have been reported to have entire divisions in that area, operating freely between their own and South Vietnamese territory.

In another area, the United States is working on proposals to support any Vietnam settlement with a peacekeeping system run by neutral Asian nations.

Diplomatic officials, reporting this today, said the idea is to provide more effective supervision than has been provided by the powerless Indochina Control Commission made up of India, Poland and Canada.

If the exchanges between Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and Minister of State Xuan Thuy bear fruit, the Americans would like to see the machinery to police any peace arrangements in the hands of such neutral Asian states as Burma, India and Indonesia.

Harriman signaled American thinking on the subject in presenting his government's first policy statement in the peace talks. He said any new agreement would need international supervision but on a stronger, wider basis than the Communist-Western-neutral commission set up by the 1954 Geneva accords that ended France's war in Indochina.

"Experience has demonstrated the shortcomings of the existing procedures," said Harriman. "We believe one of our major tasks will be to devise more effective ways of supervising any agreement and insuring the fair and equitable investigation of complaints."

Kennedy, Major Opponent Humphrey Exchange Barbs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sen. Robert F. Kennedy—calling Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey obviously his major opponent—says Humphrey offers the voters "Pabulum and tranquilizers."

Humphrey was listed the leader in the Democratic presidential race by the Gallup Poll Wednesday meanwhile and George Gallup Jr. said there has been a shift among young voters in the past month from Kennedy toward Humphrey.

Kennedy, fresh off a 51 per cent to 31 victory over Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy in the Nebraska primary, said of Humphrey: "Obviously, he is the major opponent." Kennedy turned his political guns on the vice president in a speech in Detroit.

"If you want to be filled with Pabulum and tranquilizers, then you should vote for some other candidate," Kennedy said.

Kennedy had repeated in Nebraska he offers the country a change in direction and Humphrey replied to that Wednesday that he was sponsoring progressive legislation "when some people were kind of practicing up for touch football."

The vice president shrugged off at a news conference Kennedy's Nebraska victory and pointed instead to the Gallup Poll indicating he has 40 per cent of the Democratic popular vote to 31 for Kennedy and 19 for McCarthy.

McCarthy said in Rapid City, S.D., his candidacy will be the "most successful political effort since the New Deal" if it brings public judgment on issues including the Vietnam war and priorities for domestic programs.

On the Republican side, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller went to Pennsylvania to woo delegate support for the GOP nomination and found he had 42 of the state's 64 delegates by state party leaders' count.

Sources close to Gov. Raymond Shafer said 5 delegates were committed to former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and another 17 seemed to be leaning toward him.

Rockefeller took issue with Nixon's statement that Congress should not be pressured by the Poor People's Campaign into enacting legislation "from behind a barricade."

The campaign, Rockefeller said, "is just a new form of lobbying" which brings poverty problems into focus and offers a "challenge to the country to find out how to bring these people into the economic mainstream so they can share in its benefits."

Nixon, in Pendleton, Ore., said a revolutionary struggle is under way in current student protest disorders in which extremists hope to take control of great American universities.

He called the Columbia University trouble a "naked attempt to subvert and discredit" university authority.

The way to prevent such disorders at other institutions, Nixon said, "is to rid the campus now of any student organization or clique which applauds and uses the type of political force employed at Columbia."

Runaways Arrested by City Police

Two 14-year-old runaways from Mt. Sterling were arrested by Circleville Police at 10 p.m. Wednesday at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

The two youths had left their homes Monday, coming to Circleville. They attempted to steal a car at Christopher Pontiac Monday night and then left the car on the lot after they bumped into another vehicle.

The youths spent the night in a nearby field.

On Tuesday they broke into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Arnold on Route 104, taking some food and a bicycle.

Returning to Circleville, they purchased some paint and painted the bicycle. Tuesday night they slept in a culvert along Route 104.

On Wednesday they returned to Circleville again. They were seen in one of the horse barns at the Fairgrounds where they were seeking shelter from the rain.

The two youths have been referred to juvenile authorities.

Sheriff Probes Armed Robbery

An armed robbery that occurred in South Bloomfield early today is being investigated by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Mike Neff, 18, the attendant of a service station in the village told Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Richard Clark that a man entered the station holding a short-barreled 22-caliber revolver and locked him in the back room of the station.

Neff said he heard the man open the cash register. About $100 in bills was taken from the station.

Neff described the man as middle-aged, light brown hair.

Stolen Car Recovered

Three Juveniles Are Apprehended

A car, owned by Ed Borden and reported stolen Tuesday, has been recovered in Portsmouth, Circleville Police said today.

Three youths, two 14 and one 16 years of age, all of Portsmouth, were apprehended while driving the car.

The youths told authorities they stole a car in Portsmouth and drove as far as Laurelville. Then they took another car, driving to Chillicothe. In Chillicothe they stole a third car and drove to Columbus.

The trio hitch-hiked to Circleville from Columbus where they took Borden's car and returned to Portsmouth.

The three will be prosecuted by Scioto County Juvenile authorities, police said.

Mayor Richard L. Gerhardt today gave his whole-hearted support to the Veterans of Foreign Wars Buddy Poppy Campaign which will be held in Circleville Friday and Saturday, May 17-18.

VFW Buddy Poppies are assembled by disabled veterans and the proceeds of the worthy fund raising campaign are used exclusively for the benefit of disabled and needy veterans, and the widows and orphans of deceased veterans.

The basic purpose of the annual sale of Buddy Poppies by the Veterans of Foreign Wars is eloquently reflected in the desire to "Honor the Dead by Helping the Living."

In backing the campaign, Mayor Gerhardt stated, "I do hereby urge the citizens of this community to recognize the merits of this cause by contributing generously to its support through the purchase of Buddy Poppies on the day set aside for the distribution of these symbols of appreciation for the sacrifices of our honored dead."

Stock Car Club Denies Charges Of Injunction

Mid State Racing Assn. met with a representative of Pickaway Speedway Inc. to discuss a restraining order filed by the Speedway.

The temporary restraining order signed by Pickaway County Common Pleas Court Judge William Ammer prohibits members of the racing association from competing at Pickaway Speedway.

During a meeting held at the M&M Truck Stop, Route 2, members of the association denied allegations of the restraining order which stated they had threatened to create a disturbance at the tracks.

Ned Young, president of the Mid State Racing Assn., said the group was formed to create a better public image of the stock car drivers.

HE noted they had formed the organization to "police" themselves, not to create disturbances with track operators.

Floyd Woodgeard, representing the speedway, said members of the club could race at the speedway under the condition that they dissolve the Mid State Racing Assn. and for a new group including all drivers at the track.

The members present at the meeting voted unanimously to dissolve the organization. They told Woodgeard they intended to fight his legal action.

Czechs Seek U.S. Gesture To Aid Liberalized Regime

PRAGUE (AP) — Some highly placed Czechoslovak Communists who stand for liberalization of the regime express hope privately for a gesture from the United States which might bolster their morale in what looks like an uphill fight against Moscow-inspired pressure.

Non-Communist sources point out, however, that anything beyond a gesture might add danger to an already potentially explosive situation developing between Czechoslovakia and other members of the Communist bloc.

Communist informants say

Paris . . .

On the face of it, this would seem to offer Communist China a part in the policing job. But the diplomatic sources stressed that the Americans have no such idea in mind. Instead Washington wants membership in any control system confined to neutral or nonaligned countries, the informants said, so the Communists can't exercise the veto that has kept the present control commission powerless.

Although the U.S.-North Vietnamese peace talks seem to be badly bogged down over the question of American bombing north of the 17th parallel, U.S. spokesmen refuse to be pessimistic.

After the second session Wednesday, at which Thuy said continuation of the bombing was blocking the consideration of larger issues, an American spokesman commented: "We did find a few things where we believe we have a common interest."

The conference recessed until Saturday.

the United States, without appearing to interfere in the current situation, could do two things which might help both materially and in terms of morale in a country whose economic problems present formidable barriers to liberalization.

One of these, the informants say, would be to extend most-favored-nation status to Czechoslovakia in trade with the United States. The other would be to reach an agreement in the deadlocked quarrel over $20 million worth of Czechoslovak gold impounded by the United States since World War II.

American trade with Communist Czechoslovakia reached a peak in 1966, an over-all exchange figure of $65 million. The United States sold this country mostly grain, fertilizers and other agricultural products. Last year, the trade figure fell off by half.

The present regime, under Alexander Dubcek, first secretary of the Communist party, has made clear it would like most-favored-nation treatment. The policy of the U.S. administration is that an agreement should be negotiated.

The administration favors similar procedures in the case of Romania, also a maverick in the European Communist camp. However, the U.S. Congress has been unwilling to act.

The gold in question is Czechoslovakia's share of what was looted by the Nazis in Europe during the war. The United States, as a victor nation, pledged itself to seek the rightful owners. The gold was impounded.

North Viets

(Continued from Page 1) ized zone. And today there were reports of more fighting in the Central Highlands on three sides of Kontum, a key provincial capital, and near Khe Sanh, in the northwest corner of the country.

The Communist command appeared to be trying to keep up the military pressure to strengthen its bargaining position at the Paris peace talks. It sent troops storming at American and Australian positions and South Vietnamese outposts.

Near Khe Sanh, North Vietnamese troops fought U.S. Marines from bunkers for 7 1/2 hours.

The heaviest fighting was around Kontum City where an allied force reported 147 North Vietnamese killed in five hours of action Wednesday during which not an allied soldier was killed.

That battle was seven miles northeast of Kontum City. Today, in the darkness before dawn, North Vietnamese troops about 20 miles west of the city opened up with mortars, rocket-propelled grenades, flamethrowers and small arms on a patrol base and an outpost of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division within 400 yards of each other.

The defenders of the outpost were forced back to the patrol base, which retaliated with mortars and artillery while Air Force twin-engine AC47s armed with rapid-firing guns sprayed thousands of rounds into the enemy positions under the light of flares.

As dawn broke, the North Vietnamese pulled back but an hour later renewed the mortar attack on the patrol base. Sporadic shelling continued during the day.

Strong Cost-of-Credit Bill Ready for Final Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — An eight-year Capitol Hill battle to enact a landmark cost-of-credit disclosure bill is within three steps of what President Johnson termed "a great victory for the American consumer."

Senate-House conferees Wednesday, after weeks of work, on a compromise measure requiring that most borrowers be told the dollar-and-cents cost of credit on loans and purchases.

It's estimated the bill would cover approximately $100 billion annually, on installment purchases, loans and other credit deals.

Sponsors said there is no question the House and Senate will approve the compromise version of the bill, probably next week.

Johnson left no doubt that the third remaining step, his signature on the legislation, would follow quickly.

He called it a long-overdue, "strong truth-in-lending" bill. Under the measure those extending credit or making consumer loans would have to disclose two things on most transactions:

—The annual interest rate figured on the declining balance of the obligation.

—The total cost of credit in dollars and cents over its full life.

The battle for the legislation began in 1960 when it first was introduced by former Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill.

It finally was passed 92 to 0 last July 11 by the Senate, and 382 to 4 on Feb. 1 this year by the House.

But the House added a number of provisions to the measure and this led to a long-drawn-out conference. Most of the House items were retained in the final version but several were revised.

One of the knottiest problems involved revolving credit, which has become increasingly popular with retail chain stores.

The chains contended it was very hard to figure an accurate annual interest charge on such accounts.

The Senate voted to allow them to state only the monthly interest rate, often 1 1/2 per cent. But the House insisted on an annual rate which would be 18 per cent if the monthly charge were 1 1/2 per cent.

Under the compromise, the store would have to give both of these but could also state, if it chose, an effective rate based on its annual yield from such business. This would normally be less than the 18 per cent.

Also, a minimum revolving credit charge of 50 cents a month or less would not have to be used as the basis for the interest disclosure.

Runaways Arrested by City Police

Two 14-year-old runaways from Mt. Sterling were arrested by Circleville Police at 10 p.m. Wednesday at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

The two youths had left their homes Monday, coming to Circleville. They attempted to steal a car at Christopher Pontiac Monday night and then left the car on the lot after they bumped into another vehicle.

The youths spent the night in a nearby field.

On Tuesday they broke into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Arnold on Route 104, taking some food and a bicycle.

Returning to Circleville, they purchased some paint and painted the bicycle. Tuesday night they slept in a culvert along Route 104.

On Wednesday they returned to Circleville again. They were seen in one of the horse barns at the Fairgrounds where they were seeking shelter from the rain.

The two youths have been referred to juvenile authorities.

Sheriff Probes Armed Robbery

An armed robbery that occurred in South Bloomfield early today is being investigated by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Mike Neff, 18, the attendant of a service station in the village told Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Richard Clark that a man entered the station holding a short barreled 22 caliber revolver and locked him in the back room of the station.

Neff said he heard the man open the cash register. About $100 in bills was taken from the station.

Neff described the man as middle aged, light brown hair.

Stolen Car Recovered

Three Juveniles Are Apprehended

A car, owned by Ed Borden and reported stolen Tuesday, has been recovered in Portsmouth, Circleville Police said today.

Three youths, two 14 and one 16 years of age, all of Portsmouth, were apprehended while driving the car.

The youths told authorities they stole a car in Portsmouth and drove as far as Laureville. Then they took another car, driving to Chillicothe. In Chillicothe they stole a third car and drove to Columbus.

The trio hitch-hiked to Circleville from Columbus where they took Borden's car and returned to Portsmouth.

The three will be prosecuted by Scioto County Juvenile authorities, police said.

Poppy Sale Campaign Scheduled

Mayor Richard L. Gerhardt today gave his whole-hearted support to the Veterans of Foreign Wars Buddy Poppy Campaign which will be held in Circleville Friday and Saturday, May 17-18.

VFW Buddy Poppies are assembled by disabled veterans and the proceeds of the worthy fund raising campaign are used exclusively for the benefit of disabled and needy veterans, and the widows and orphans of deceased veterans.

In backing the campaign, Mayor Gerhardt stated, "I do hereby urge the citizens of this community to recognize the merits of this cause by contributing generously to its support through the purchase of Buddy Poppies on the day set aside for the distribution of these symbols of appreciation for the sacrifices of our honored dead."

The basic purpose of the annual sale of Buddy Poppies by the Veterans of Foreign Wars is eloquently reflected in the desire to "Honor the Dead by Helping the Living."

Garden Gossip and Helpful Hints

By MRS. E. P. HANSON
'The Lady by the Lake'

What a profusion of color Mother Nature has spread before us this past week. The reds and yellows seem to dominate the scene, but all the colors are there for all of us.

There are so many patches of bright red and orange poppies, the Mister went fishing on Saturday and as I picked him up at the Darbyville bridge I drove by the Gulick farm on the Commercial Point Columbus Road and in front of their home was a patch of red poppies so big it made me stop and look.

The fortunate few who received a clump of 'Pinks' from the Charles Bracketts are really looking forward to a month or more of blossoms and praises from their friends. It is one of the most beautiful sights in Circleville when the original plot is in full bloom in front of the lovely home of the Bracketts at 609 Garden Parkway.

Mrs. Lois Brobst at 130 Atwater has the first orange California poppies in bloom. It is one of the things I look for at this time of the year. Hers is usually one of the first in town to open their buds.

Time to spray for oystershell scale hatches on the lilac bushes. Also lacebugs on rhododendrons and azaleas. Spray about May 15, and about two weeks later.

Took a trip thru the garden of Mrs. L. Karshner, 352 Watt St., one day this past week. Oh! what a treat that was. The wild flowers alone were exciting and then the flowers that most of us grow added the frosting. The trillium had little flowers real close to the ground, the yellow and brown of the Lady-slipper is one I hadn't seen in a long time. There were Japanese pinks in bloom and iris, poppies, tulips and rose buds every where.

In the Karshner home the Hibiscus had two red blooms and more buds. These delicate flowers keep their blooms such a short time.

May is the Planting Moon representing high tide of spring in this part of the country. A lot of people planted their gardens according to the almanac and Friday was one of the days to plant. The 24th of May is another good day. Wait until after all danger of frost is gone before putting in tomato plants.

Mr. and Mrs. Roliff Wolford on Lancaster Pike have a lovely showing of purple iris, the early type. Mr. Wolford had his vegetable garden completed this past week. The raspberries were tied up and in full leaf in the middle of the garden.

Speaking of raspberries sure have missed the stick sentinels of Mr. W. H. Wilson on the edge of Northridge Road. He has had the berry bushes in rows and always kept them so nice and neat. The last year or two the space has been cleared off and no more raspberries. One doesn't see many berry patches like we used to. I know it is the passing of one of the rarest treats anyone could have, out of our garden. Rates even higher than fresh sweet corn yanked one minute after the water starts boiling.

Clustered yellow iris and orange poppies grace the parking lot in back of Bingman's Drug Store. Helps brighten the day when one gets a parking ticket for not putting a nickel in the meter. So busy looking at the flowers I walked right by the meter. Reminded me that Ella Hornbeck's garden was so close and thought of the legacy she left to us all.

Mrs. Lulu Conkel on the corner of Lancaster Pike and Nicholas Drive had a yard full of tulips. Now her iris and her poppies and peonies take over the scene. Mrs. Conkel had at one time over 400 bulbs in the ground. She has planted them on all sides of her house so that all may enjoy.

The bridal wreath is hanging on the porch of Mrs. Cleon Webb, E. Main St., is set off by the yellow bush of little tiny rose-like flowers in the middle of her bridal wreath. The bridal wreath on the fence along the cleaning plant on Hayward Ave. is solid white, and the bushes are so big.

When transplanting your shrubs or plants be sure and keep the roots wet. I can't stress that enough according to the pamphlets I received and all I have read about transplanting.

It seems as if azaleas have become quite a favorite plant from all the reports I had this past week. All colors too, guess the rest of us should get on the band wagon.

Received a call from Mr. Clinton Strawser on Hayward Ave. and he had a Japanese peony tree in bloom, the size of the buds were over two inches and the flower was almost unbelievably big. Pale pink with strands of deep red formed the head. Mr. Strawser brought into the Herald office a yellow parrot tulip that measured over ten inches across the top. Also brought in a peony from his tree and it was over twelve inches.

Being able to see all these lovely gardens and with everyone being so nice to me makes this a very interesting column to write.

New watercraft laws went into effect and there is one that concerns all of us that are near streams and water. The law reads as follows: "no persons shall dispose of, in any manner any garbage, waste, peeling, of vegetables or fruits, rubbish, ashes, cans, bottle, wire, paper, cartons, boxes, parts of automobiles, wagons, furniture, glass, oil or anything else of any unsightly or unsanitary nature in any ditch; stream, river, lake, pond or other watercourse, except those waters which do not combine or effect a junction with natural surface or underground waters or upon the bank there of where the same is liable to be washed into the water either by ordinary flow or annual floods."

So you mushroom hunters, wild flower enthusiasts, fishermen or any one on a picnic or out in the woods or parks etc, take heed as it will become one way we all can help fight pollution.

LONDON (AP) — How sterling is the pound six months after devaluation? To answer that, the British are looking not only to themselves, but to Washington and the dollar.

Full confidence in the pound has not returned because the British know their currency is still at the mercy of international financial storms. Nor has British self-confidence returned, either politically or economically, because no one can safely say whether devaluation is doing its intended job of restoring national solvency. And no one can be expected to know that until at least the end of the year.

Last week the pound trembled in the world's money markets for a complex of reasons ranging from reported Russian troop movements to the distrust, and even hatred, of Prime Minister Harold Wilson and his Labor government felt by British and foreign businessmen.

Little of this had anything to do with the underlying strength or weakness of the British economy, but it was enough to keep buyers away from British pounds. The rate fell, then recovered somewhat, partly because of huge international currency swap agreements designed to protect the pound against just such short-term flows of confidence.

When the British cut the value of their currency Nov. 18, experts including U.S. Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler warned that the dollar would go into the front line in the speculators' war against the world monetary system. The subsequent gold rush against the dollar proved these warnings correct.

Now the United States is proposing to raise taxes and is restricting foreign investment to protect the dollar just as the British have done to protect their pound. The British fear they may be caught in the backlash.

"A run on sterling now would not be a commentary on current British economic policy—which is, in fact, being less inefficiently conducted than for many years—but a run up a ramp against the dollar," commented the weekly Economist.

Nevertheless, British officials are also concerned lest U.S. efforts to halt the dollar drain could affect Britain's export drive, especially if Congress passes protectionist legislation against imports. The British calculate that a 5 per cent surcharge on imports to the United States, Britain's largest market, could cost this country up to $200 million a year in trade. A serious consumer recession could cost more.

The six months after devaluation have not put Britain's trade into the black, but no one here expected that it would. On the contrary, the trade gap has grown wider. Imports have soared 24 per cent over last year as goods ordered earlier were delivered at higher, post-devaluation prices.

The British also have been on a record buying spree since devaluation, and despite record taxes imposed in the budget in March, the spree is only now beginning to tail off. Automobile sales at home dropped sharply last month, making way for record export orders.

But the psychological effect of devaluation apparently confounded the treasury as people fled from paper money into any kind of durable goods. The gold rush and devaluation combined to boost sales of jewelry by 41 per cent in March. Nowhere has the effect of a cut in currency values been more pronounced than in the stock market. All indexes have pushed to record highs since devaluation as buyers rushed into the market and sellers held back.

Living for Today

With the growth of technological and human knowledge has come, subconsciously in many instances, the conviction that few things are as they seem.

Science may be developing too rapidly for human understanding to keep pace, or perhaps a quirk of human nature refuses to accept immediately the burdens of learning new concepts, new ideas and new impressions of old knowledge.

Whatever the cause, a mild apathy has overcome men's motives in contributing to the civilization which caters to their enjoyments. In spite of greater populations and a greater awareness of the many problems of a contemporary nature, it seems more difficult to recruit the enthusiasm, the good humor and the unselfish offering of services to correct these faults.

Undoubtedly decades of world instability with recurring hostilities and crises have sapped much of the desire to plant today what will not mature until tomorrow, but this is a suicidal reaction. Every day is the tomorrow of yesterday, and how hungry man would be if yesterday he had decided there wouldn't be a tomorrow and lived only for the moment.

Nations as well as people must plan for an endless future to survive. It makes little difference what forces threaten today or will arise to do so tomorrow. There will always be dangers to the continuity of a successful enterprise from those who prefer more direct means of acquisition.

But the moment an individual, an enterprise or a nation falters in the primary role of foundation builder for tomorrow, that is how soon life begins to ebb.

Life is just beginning for the United States. It ill behooves prophets of doom to advocate crash programs designed to produce immediate results in one area at the future expense of many, or to utterly disregard fiscal sanity at the price of immediate result.

There will be a tomorrow if we don't use it all up today.

End of Democracy?

"A democracy cannot exist as a permanent form of government. It can only exist until the voters discover that they can vote themselves largess out of the public treasury. From that moment on the majority always votes for the candidate promising the most benefits from that public treasury, with the result that a democracy will always collapse from a loose fiscal policy, always to be followed by a dictatorship."

This ominous statement was penned nearly two centuries ago by the 18th-century Scottish historian and judge, Alexander Fraser Tytler. The learned judge had in mind the fate of the Roman Republic . . . The U.S. seems destined not only to repeat the mistakes of history, but the mistakes of modern history.

We may be excused, though nonetheless doomed, for failure to heed the example of ancient Rome; but the example of Britain is too close and too obvious for a plea of ignorance."

Bachelor Sweepstakes

A 21-year-old California bachelor who recently inherited a $100,000 estate on the condition that he marry a girl from Scotland has started a Marry John Andrews Sweepstakes.

So far more than 300 Scots girls have turned in bids, including secretaries, shopgirls, Women's Air Force officers and one detective. John will meet the winner when he visits Scotland later in the year.

It isn't difficult to think of several well-known bachelors who might make themselves large fortunes by selling sweepstakes tickets on themselves at a dollar or two apiece.

Leser bachelors could be given away as consolation prizes.

NEW YORK (AP) — Checked your image lately?

You should. Your social image is as important to your success as oil is to the smooth functioning of your automobile. Both should be checked periodically.

However, you can be sure your prestige rating is pretty high if—

Before the annual office dance, your boss's wife calls your wife to find out what to wear.

When your kids get thrown out of one expensive school, two other expensive schools are willing to take them in.

Your secretary never fails to bring you a big red rose on your birthday. She's so proud to be on your team that she'll even work 4 1/2 minutes late on Friday without a whimper, just to be sure the week's work is wound up properly.

When you're overdrawn at the bank, the manager uses that only as an excuse to call you up and ask when you'll play golf with him next.

You are so sure of your social standing you can go into a burlesque house without first glancing uneasily in both directions to see if anyone you know might observe you.

The guy who has the job ahead of you is rapidly developing his second ulcer.

ENTHUSED a lady who simply loved to cook, "I soaked my chicken all night in brandy, basted it with sherry, sprinkled it with vermouth, and put rum sauce in the dressing." "Yum, yum," nodded her friend. "How was it?" "Believe me, Norma," declared the lady cook, "this was the first time in all my experience that a chicken ever climbed out of the oven and tried to join Alcoholics Anonymous!"

A Russian, an American, and an Italian were indulging in a bit of vain-glorious boasting at a seaside bistro one night. "By 1973," asserted the American, "we'll have colonies on the moon, with people popping up there from New York for a weekend." "Bah," scoffed the Russian. "By 1973, the Soviet will have settled Mars. The Moon will be just a way station for us." It was the Italian who had the last word. "In 1973," he cried, "we will have shown up your big-shot Americans and Russians. WE will put an Italian astronaut on the SUN!"

"How can you be such a fool?" the other two jeered in unison. "Don't you realize that a man on the sun would be burned to a crisp within the fraction of a second?" "Ah ha," chorled the Italian. "We will know how to take care of that! We'll land him at NIGHT!"

Now you know what the word bruit means. But the more important aspect of your letter is why, when you were confused and did not understand the term, did you not ask your doctor to explain it.

Here lies the key to the waste of the wonderful relationship that should, and often does, exist between a doctor and his patient. Any patient who leaves the doctor's office in a state of confusion and without a thorough understanding of her condition, its seriousness and its treatment, is truly deprived of the real benefits of that important relationship. Consider how long you have been worried. Your doctor could have spared you endless days of unnecessary anxiety.

This is the time of year when we are again faced with that unanswerable question: Why in the spring does the grass grow so much more rapidly in our gravel drive than it does on our tree lawn?

The man at the next desk says his new station wagon is not only longer and roomier but provides more space on which to pick up more scratches in a parking lot.

The octopus has eight tentacles, the squid 10 — nature item. In our book that makes the squid 25 per cent more offensive.

The Business World

By PHIL THOMAS (For John Cuniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's retailers "can't stay at the same old stand and wait for the next eruption" of violence in the streets but must become active in leading the hard-core unemployed to jobs.

If they don't, says James J. Bliss, "they stand to lose the most. The retailer is right in the front line."

Bliss is the executive vice president of the National Retail Merchants Association, a trade group for the department chain and specialty store industry. It's 2,000 members operate about 17,000 stores and annually account for about $30 billion of retail sales.

"We first started taking an actively increased interest" in the hard-core unemployed last summer when the riots began, Bliss said in an interview.

Since the retailer stands "to lose the most among all of the business community," Bliss said, "he should be the most involved in trying to find solutions" to urban violence.

"The important thing," he said, "is that the retailer has to accept as a moral principle that he is basically wrong, and he has to do something about it. Unless that moral commitment is made the outlook is going to be bleak."

In an effort to get this message to its members, the association has begun issuing a newsletter devoted to the retailer's role in the interracial climate of his community.

Much of the newsletter, called "Crisis '68!," details examples of how retailers around the nation are handling the problem of recruiting the hard-core unemployed and training them to hold jobs in their stores.

"Many of the hard core are not educated," Bliss said. "Many of them live in a welfare environment and in a home where they never saw a person gainfully employed and where the idea of working for a living and standing on their own two feet is an alien one. To many of them having to work is an entirely new concept."

Much of the work in preparing the hard core for jobs is being done by government agencies, Bliss said, but some also is being handled by the merchants themselves.

"A number of New York stores, for example, have banded together to develop the facilities needed to give this feeder training to these people," Bliss said. "It aims at getting them to overcome their distrust as well as teaching them how to behave in the business world and the white world."

An example of how bridge building can pay off happened recently in an Eastern city where two stores of similar size and clientele hired about 100 slum dwellers who had been trained in the same job opportunities program.

One store lost about 90 per cent of these employees in about three weeks. The other store managed to keep most of them on the payroll.

"The reason the one store lost out was that it just decided to start recruiting Negroes without deciding how to accomplish this," Bliss said. "The other store went about it in a well organized way. It knew it had to make the Negro himself as well as the people already in the store aware that the management was serious."

"Many retailers are successful in keeping their hard-core recruits," he said. "But more has to be done, a lot more. It's going to take time. You are not going to see immediate results."

Negotiation and Election

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The definitive study on what to expect while negotiating with the Communists was written more than ten years ago by Admiral Charles Turner Joy, who took a leading part in the Korean War armistice talks. The Admiral laid it down as axiomatic that the Communists should not be permitted to name the site for a conference unilaterally. He also warned against agreeing to talk with the Communists at any place within their own geographical orbit.

So far, we have done well. The selection of Paris for preliminary talks about ending the Vietnamese War is a compromise, reached after rejection of the first choices of both the North Vietnamese and ourselves. We successfully resisted the attempt to get us to begin the talks in Poland, which is clearly within the enemy's lines, or in Cambodia, which, if theoretically neutral, has lent considerable aid and comfort to North Vietnamese troops seeking sanctuary.

Since we have managed to shape up in meeting Admiral Joy's first specifications as set forth in his "How Communists Negotiate," we are going to Paris with composed faces. But the real tests are still to come. After haggling with the Communists in Korea for ten months, Admiral Joy came up with three important rules. Rule Number One is never to concede anything even of a minor nature merely to make it seem that the conference is going somewhere; if you concede for the sake of appearances, you will concede everything. Rule Number Two is to stop justifying yourself after you have taken a firm position; the Communists should not be led to doubt your own belief in yourself. Rule Number Three is to make use of the threat of force if it is needed to counter arbitrariness or bad faith on the part of the enemy. The Admiral has other rules to offer, but these are the important ones.

Following Admiral Joy's rules will be extremely difficult for our negotiators in the middle of a Presidential campaign. The negotiators are responsible to Johnson, but he's a lame duck boss. Two of our Presidential aspirants, Bobby Kennedy and Gene McCarthy, have, in effect, conceded points to the enemy even before negotiations have started.

Kennedy has said "no more Vietnams" which means that, if he were President, no negotiator could make use of a tacit threat to enlarge the war by "hot" pursuit into "sanctuary" areas if the negotiations broke down. And Gene McCarthy has said we should express our willingness at the outset to take Communists into the South Vietnamese government. The effect of such stances on the Communist negotiators is predictable: Ho Chi Minh's men will dawdle until the Democratic convention in Chicago has named its candidate. If Kenedy or McCarthy is nominated, the Communists will then wait until November before agreeing to anything. But if Humphrey gets the nod, there will be other tactics.

If Humphrey and Nixon are the final Presidential nominees of the two major parties, the Communists will try to dope out which of two relatively hawkish candidates will do them less harm on the world chess board if he is elected. Having once made up their minds on this subject, they will conduct themselves at the conference table in whatever way seems best calculated to tip the U.S. election scales to favor their own objectives. They think they know how to do this: after all, Khrushchev once boasted to John F. Kennedy that he had elected him.

The subtleties of election year being what they are, it will take brave negotiators to deal with the enemy without reference to the impermanence at home. And it would take a brave Presidential candidate to support a negotiating team at Paris if it had to threaten things like a renewal of bombing, or "hot" pursuit, or a blockade of Haiphong, in order to show that it means business. A tough line might win the election for a patriotic nominee, but only if the U.S. electorate were aroused. The hunger for peace being what it is, how could people be turned around to support a hard policy in a few October weeks?

Admiral Joy's rules for negotiating with Communists seem to cover every contingency save that of palavering in the middle of a Presidential campaign year.

Living for Today

With the growth of technological and human knowledge has come, subconsciously in many instances, the conviction that few things are as they seem.

Science may be developing too rapidly for human understanding to keep pace, or perhaps a quirk of human nature refuses to accept immediately the burdens of learning new concepts, new ideas and new impressions of old knowledge.

Whatever the cause, a mild apathy has overcome men's motives in contributing to the civilization which caters to their enjoyments. In spite of greater populations and a greater awareness of the many problems of a contemporary nature, it seems more difficult to recruit the enthusiasm, the good humor and the unselfish offering of services to correct these faults.

Undoubtedly decades of world instability with recurring hostilities and crises have sapped much of the desire to plant today what will not mature until tomorrow, but this is a suicidal reaction. Every day is the tomorrow of yesterday, and how hungry man would be if yesterday he had decided there wouldn't be a tomorrow and lived only for the moment.

Nations as well as people must plan for an endless future to survive. It makes little difference what forces threaten today or will arise to do so tomorrow. There will always be dangers to the continuity of a successful enterprise from those who prefer more direct means of acquisition.

From that moment on the majority always votes for the candidate promising the most benefits from that public treasury, with the result that a democracy will always collapse from a loose fiscal policy, always to be followed by a dictatorship."

This ominous statement was penned nearly two centuries ago by the 18th-century Scottish historian and judge, Alexander Fraser Tytler. The learned judge had in mind the fate of the Roman Republic . . . The U.S. seems destined not only to repeat the mistakes of history, but the mistakes of modern history.

We may be excused, though nonetheless doomed, for failure to heed the example of ancient Rome; but the example of Britain is too close and too obvious for a plea of ignorance."

Bachelor Sweepstakes

A 21-year-old California bachelor who recently inherited a $100,000 estate on the condition that he marry a girl from Scotland has started a Marry John Andrews Sweepstake.

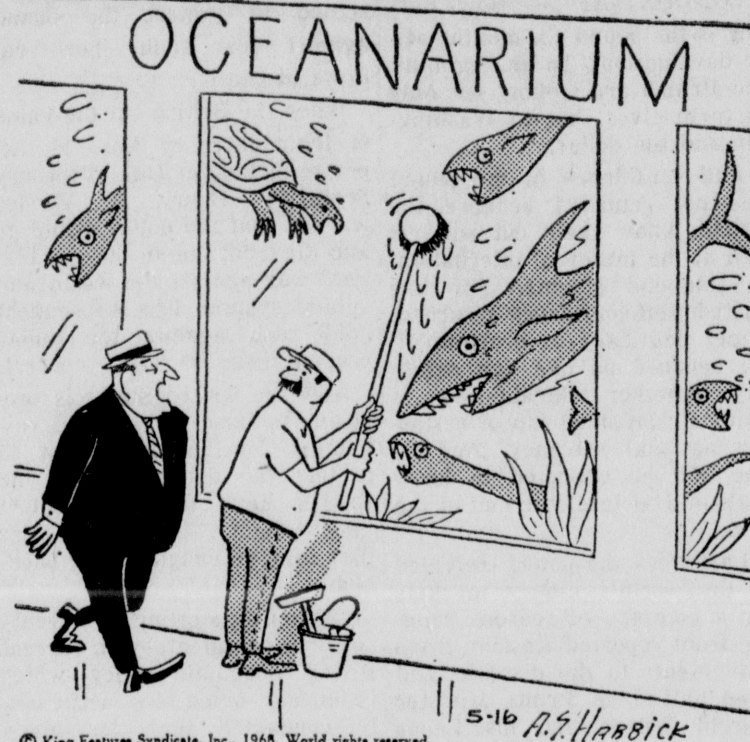

So far more than 300 Scots girls have turned in bids, including secretaries, shopgirls, Women's Air Force officers and one detective. John will meet the winner when he visits Scotland later in the year.

It isn't difficult to think of several well-known bachelors who might make themselves large fortunes by selling sweepstakes tickets on themselves at a dollar or two apiece.

Leser bachelors could be given away as consolation prizes.

Try and Stop Me

ENTHUSED a lady who simply loved to cook, "I soaked my chicken all night in brandy, basted it with sherry, sprinkled it with vermouth, and put rum sauce in the dressing." "Yum, yum," nodded her friend. "How was it?" "Believe me, Norma," declared the lady cook, "this was the first time in all my experience that a chicken ever climbed out of the oven and tried to join Alcoholics Anonymous!"

A Russian, an American, and an Italian were indulging in a bit of vain-glorious boasting at a seaside bistro one night. "By 1973," asserted the American, "we'll have colonies on the moon, with people popping up there from New York for a weekend." "Bah," scoffed the Russian. "By 1973, the Soviet will have settled Mars. The Moon will be just a way station for us." It was the Italian who had the last word. "In 1973," he cried, "we will have shown up your big-shot Americans and Russians. WE will put an Italian astronaut on the SUN!"

"How can you be such a fool?" the other two jeered in unison. "Don't you realize that a man on the sun would be burned to a crisp within the fraction of a second?" "Ah ha," chorled the Italian. "We will know how to take care of that! We'll land him at NIGHT!"

Quoth Dr. Nudnik to a fat, fat patient: "I want you to follow this diet religiously—and two months from today I want to see three-fourths of you back here for a checkup."

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Can you tell me everything that is known about moles? Are they dangerous and what can be done about them? When do they become worrisome?

Dear Mrs. M.: To tell you "all" about moles would be an immodest presentation of the idea that everything about moles is known. This is not so. There are perhaps two hundred books on various kinds of moles in the medical library, so the impossibility of learning or telling all is apparent.

In essence, that which you want to know about moles is whether or not you can tell if they are dangerous by their appearance. You cannot.

A mole is a discolored spot on the skin usually elevated above the surface and almost always present at birth. The exact cause is usually unknown. Every conceivable scientific approach has somehow failed to answer all the questions about "all" moles.

Most of them are harmless unless they are irritated, picked on and made to grow.

A mole that changes in size, shape, or one that begins to bleed most certainly needs the attention of a specialist either in the field of plastic surgery or in skin diseases. Even highly trained specialists sometimes cannot tell whether a mole is benign or dangerous. They carefully inspect it with high powered lenses and frequently remove a portion or all of it, for special microscopic study.

The vast majority of skin moles are harmless and should not be a source of concern.

My doctor used the word bruit after I had an operation for artery trouble in my neck.

You seem to explain so many things so simply that I impose on you to tell my wife he used the word bruit.

Mrs. T. A. P., Ohio
Dear Mrs. P.: I am delighted that you wrote to me and are so flattered. Let me immediately tell you that the word bruit is derived from the French and simply means noise. Any crackling, humming, purring or blowing sound may be heard when a stethoscope is placed against a blood vessel in the neck. There are so many different kinds of bruits which are associated with diseases of the arteries that one explanation is not adequate for all of them.

Now you know what the word bruit means. But the more important aspect of your letter is why, when you were confused and did not understand the term, did you not ask your doctor to explain it.

Here lies the key to the waste of the wonderful relationship that should, and often does, exist between a doctor and his patient. Any patient who leaves the doctor's office in a state of confusion and without a thorough understanding of her condition, its seriousness and its treatment, is truly deprived of the real benefits of that important relationship. Consider how long you have been worried. Your doctor could have spared you endless days of unnecessary anxiety.

This is the time of year when we are again faced with that unanswerable question: Why in the spring does the grass grow so much more rapidly in our gravel drive than it does on our tree lawn?

The man at the next desk says his new station wagon is not only longer and roomier but provides more space on which to pick up more scratches in a parking lot.

The octopus has eight tentacles, the squid 10 — nature item. In our book that makes the squid 25 per cent more offensive.

The Business World

By PHIL THOMAS (For John Cuniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's retailers "can't stay at the same old stand and wait for the next eruption" of violence in the streets but must become active in leading the hard-core unemployed to jobs.

If they don't, says James J. Bliss, "they stand to lose the most. The retailer is right in the front line."

Bliss is the executive vice president of the National Retail Merchants Association, a trade group for the department chain and specialty store industry. It's 2,000 members operate about 17,000 stores and annually account for about $30 billion of retail sales.

"We first started taking an actively increased interest" in the hard-core unemployed last summer when the riots began, Bliss said in an interview.

Since the retailer stands "to lose the most among all of the business community," Bliss said, "he should be the most involved in trying to find solutions" to urban violence.

"The important thing," he said, "is that the retailer has to accept as a moral principle that the root causes of racial tension are basically wrong, and he has to do something about it. Unless that moral commitment is made the outlook is going to be bleak."

In an effort to get this message to its members, the association has begun issuing a newsletter devoted to the retailer's role in the interracial climate of his community.

Much of the newsletter, called "Crisis '68!," details examples of how retailers around the nation are handling the problem of recruiting the hard-core unemployed and training them to hold jobs in their stores.

"Many of the hard core are not educated," Bliss said. "Many of them live in a welfare environment and in a home where they never saw a person gainfully employed and where the idea of working for a living and standing on their own two feet is an alien one. To many of them having to work is an entirely new concept."

Much of the work in preparing the hard core for jobs is being done by government agencies, Bliss said, but some also is being handled by the merchants themselves.

"A number of New York stores, for example, have banded together to develop the facilities needed to give this feeder training to these people," Bliss said. "It aims at getting them to overcome their distrust as well as teaching them how to behave in the business world and the white world."

An example of how bridge building can pay off happened recently in an Eastern city where two stores of similar size and clientele hired about 100 slum dwellers who had been trained in the same job opportunities program.

One store lost about 90 per cent of these employees in about three weeks. The other store managed to keep most of them on the payroll.

"The reason the one store lost out was that it just decided to start recruiting Negroes without deciding how to accomplish this," Bliss said. "The other store went about it in a well-organized way. It knew it had to make the Negro himself as well as the people already in the store aware that the management was serious."

"Many retailers are successful in keeping their hard-core recruits," he said. "But more has to be done, a lot more. It's going to take time. You are not going to see immediate results."

Negotiation and Election

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The definitive study on what to expect while negotiating with the Communists was written more than ten years ago by Admiral Charles Turner Joy, who took a leading part in the Korean War armistice talks. The Admiral laid it down as axiomatic that the Communists should not be permitted to name the site for a conference unilaterally. He also warned against agreeing to talk with the Communists at any place within their own geographical orbit.

So far, we have done well. The selection of Paris for preliminary talks about ending the Vietnamese War is a compromise, reached after rejection of the first choices of both the North Vietnamese and ourselves.

We successfully resisted the attempt to get us to begin the talks in Poland, which is clearly within the enemy's lines, or in Cambodia, which, if theoretically neutral, has lent considerable aid and comfort to North Vietnamese troops seeking sanctuary.

Since we have managed to shape up in meeting Admiral Joy's first specifications as set forth in his "How Communists Negotiate," we are going to Paris with composed faces. But the real tests are still to come. After haggling with the Communists in Korea for ten months, Admiral Joy came up with three important rules. Rule Number One is never to concede anything even of a minor nature merely to make it seem that the conference is going somewhere; if you concede for the sake of appearances, you will concede everything. Rule Number Two is to stop justifying yourself after you have taken a firm position; the Communists should not be led to doubt your own belief in yourself. Rule Number Three is to make use of the threat of force if it is needed to counter arbitrariness or bad faith on the part of the enemy. The Admiral has other rules to offer, but these are the important ones.

Following Admiral Joy's rules will be extremely difficult for our negotiators in the middle of a Presidential campaign. The negotiators are responsible to Johnson, but he's a lame duck boss. Two of our Presidential aspirants, Bobby Kennedy and Gene McCarthy, have, in effect, conceded points to the enemy even before negotiations have started.

Kennedy has said "no more Vietnams" which means that, if he were President, no negotiator could make use of a tacit threat to enlarge the war by "hot" pursuit into "sanctuary" areas if the negotiations broke down. And Gene McCarthy has said we should express our willingness at the outset to take Communists into the South Vietnamese government. The effect of such stances on the Communist negotiators is predictable: Ho Chi Minh's men will dawdle until the Democratic convention in Chicago has named its candidate. If Kennedy or McCarthy is nominated, the Communists will then wait until November before agreeing to anything. But if Humphrey gets the nod, there will be other tactics.

If Humphrey and Nixon are the final Presidential nominees of the two major parties, the Communists will try to dope out which of two relatively hawkish candidates will do them less harm on the world chess board if he is elected. Having once made up their minds on this subject, they will conduct themselves at the conference table in whatever way seems best calculated to tip the U.S. election scales to favor their own objectives. They think they know how to do this: after all, Khrushchev once boasted to John F. Kennedy that he had elected him.

The subtleties of election year being what they are, it will take brave negotiators to deal with the enemy without reference to the impermanence at home. And it would take a brave Presidential candidate to support a negotiating team at Paris if it had to threaten things like a renewal of bombing, or "hot" pursuit, or a blockade of Haiphong, in order to show that it means business. A tough line might win the election for a patriotic nominee, but only if the U.S. electorate were aroused. The hunger for peace being what it is, how could people be turned around to support a hard policy in a few October weeks?

Admiral Joy's rules for negotiating with Communists seem to cover every contingency save that of palavering in the middle of a Presidential campaign year.

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Checked your image lately?

You should. Your social image is as important to your success as oil is to the smooth functioning of your automobile. Both should be checked periodically.

However, you can be sure your prestige rating is pretty high if—

Before the annual office dance, your boss's wife calls your wife to find out what to wear.

When your kids get thrown out of one expensive school, two other expensive schools are willing to take them in.

Your secretary never fails to bring you a big red rose on your birthday. She's so proud to be on your team that she'll even work 4½ minutes late on Friday without a whimper, just to be sure the week's work is wound up properly.

When you're overdrawn at the bank, the manager uses that only as an excuse to call you up and ask when you'll play golf with him next.

You are so sure of your social standing you can go into a burlesque house without first glancing uneasily in both directions to see if anyone you know might observe you.

The guy who has the job ahead of you is rapidly developing his second ulcer.

The head of the firm never calls you into his office to inform you he's giving you a raise. He tells you while you're a weekend guest aboard his power cruiser.

When you visit your doctor you spend more time trading stock market tips than discussing symptoms.

They don't allow tenants to have dogs in your apartment building, but in your case the superintendent is glad to make an exception.

When you go on a vacation cruise, its the kind of a cruise on which the passenger list includes more wealthy orthodontists than jovial stenographers. And where are you seated? At the captain's cosy table, naturally.

Should your kid punch another neighborhood kid in the nose, the father of the other kid sends you a written apology.

When you order a martini at lunch, the headwaiter makes sure himself that the bartender uses the brand of gin you prefer.

Before attending the annual opening of the opera, your wife asks whether you think her mother-of-pearl lorgnette will do for another season, "or does it look so positively shabby it will ruin our whole evening?"

Whenever your old college football team loses a game, the coach immediately calls you long distance to explain.

You know, when the phone on your desk gives a coded ring, that you'd better pick it up yourself—for it is the White House on the line again, asking your advice.

Yep, these things spell prestige. But for most of us they usually spell something else—daydreaming on the job.

Principal Resigns

SALEM, N.H. (AP) — The principal of Salem High School has resigned because 50 teachers and only 12 parents attended parents night at the school. "They forget the teachers do work the full school year and at times might like a pat on the back rather than an extra dollar in the paycheck," Daniel Nicholson, 30, said after his resignation.

Shan tribesmen of Burma often tattoo themselves from neck to knee with intricate designs. The tattooing began as a charm to ward off sickness and injury. Now the designs are a symbol of manhood.

BIG TOE PUPPETS—With two broken arms packed in ice to reduce the swelling, undaunted Curtis Cron, 9, plays with finger puppets on his big toes at St. Landry Clinic in Opelousas, La. His arms were broken in a fall.

Man Is Shot 5 Times, But Didn't Know

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A doctor says a 57-year-old Alaskan public health official was shot five times in the head but delayed seeking medical aid 15 hours because he thought he had only been roughed up by two assailants.

"Any one of those bullets could have killed him. It's a most amazing thing," said an attending physician Tuesday night about Dr. Ralph B. Williams' encounter in the rough Tenderloin district.

The physician, who asked not to be identified, said Williams had five bullets in his head—one of them in the brain—but considered his condition serious, not critical.

Police and the doctor pieced together this chain of events.

Williams, director of laboratory services for the Alaska Department of Health and Welfare, went to see a movie Sunday night and decided to walk back to his hotel.

He was knocked to the ground, but couldn't remember what followed. Later he managed to hail a cab to take him back to his hotel.

Williams thought he had been beaten up and shrugged off the hotel manager's suggestion he get a checkup. But he agreed at mid-afternoon to see the doctor.

Not until X rays had been taken did the doctor discover his patient had been shot. One bullet had lodged in the right lobe of the brain, others at the base of the skull, jawbone hinge and hard palate.

A fifth, which the doctor expressed most concern about, entered beneath the left eye and lodged in Williams' neck between the jugular vein and carotid artery.

Williams, who could give no explanation for the viciousness of the attack, was taken to St. Mary's Hospital where surgeons were deciding the course of treatment to be followed.

OSU Employees Are Reinstated After Dispute

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University officials announced today that two university employees involved in the April 24 removal of four Negro coeds from a campus bus acted in "full accordance with their assignments and have been reinstated to their regular duties."

Gordon B. Carson, vice president for business and finance, issued the statement.

The incident involved was one of the grievances presented by the Black Student Union when its members took over the university's administration building April 26 and held some top university officials under restraint for hours.

The two employees involved are campus police Sgt. E. E. Turner and bus driver Howard Johnson. Union members demanded their dismissal.

Probable New State Chief Of Finance Tight with Buck

By JOE MCKNIGHT
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Howard Lind Collier, expected to be the next Ohio finance director, is pudgy and proud to be known as a tight man with a buck.

It's obvious he doesn't worry about his weight as he talks of helping promote and support Gov. James A. Rhodes' philosophy of training young people and making jobs available for them.

Collier, 35, is state budget director. He has been tapped by Rhodes for the new job when Finance Director Richard Krabach takes the Cincinnati city manager's job.

Collier said he shares Rhodes' concern "that we keep taxes in Ohio as low as possible so when companies make money we don't have to take it away from them in taxes."

He said no tax increases should be needed to finance programs the state now has. He feels that economic growth should keep state income in line with increases in government costs.

Collier speaks in a slow, deliberate drawl interspersed with light grins as he talks of taking the purse strings on state government—currently a $2.75 billion annual business.

"We'll try to work the whole fiscal program in support of the governor's programs," he said. "We hope to spend the money in areas that will best promote and support the governor's philosophy of training people for jobs and creating an economic climate to attract and expand industry."

Collier looks on a job for the head of a family as a basic fact of life.

"If he has that, then other things can have meaning," Collier said. "But without a job and income the other things mean nothing."

Collier hopes that a better definition of some educational programs will be ready by the administration for the next session of the legislature.

"I don't know that we will be talking about more money so much as a redirection of resources," he added.

He also expressed hope for an end to the Vietnam war so that more federal money would be available for certain programs which he said would "doventail with some state programs."

Collier is a native of Toledo and grew up at Tiffin and graduated from Tiffin Business University with a major in accounting.

He was Krabach's administrative aide when the finance director was comptroller of the Virgin Islands during 1955-57. He has been with Rhodes' administration more than five years.

Collier's studies to become a stenographer were interrupted by military service during the Korean War. He's a fast typist, makes notes in shorthand while talking in a small cubicle of an office he refers to as "austerity."

Collier retains his residence at Tiffin where his wife, Barbara, is a hospital X-ray technician.

He commutes on weekends but noted that long working hours and short weekends don't allow as much time as he would like for canoeing on the Sandusky River.

Central State Prexy Resigns

CLEVELAND (AP) — The president of Central State University resigned Wednesday and an 11-member committee, including two students, will be asked to pick a successor by Aug. 15.

The resignation of Dr. Harry E. Groves was accepted by the university board of trustees meeting here. He cited the ill health of his wife, Evelyn, a patient at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston.

Groves, 46, resigned once last year during racial disturbances at the predominantly Negro school in Wilberforce, but changed his mind a month later.

The selection committee for a successor will be appointed by John H. Bustamante, chairman of the university trustees. It will include five trustees, three faculty members, one alumnus and two students.

Final decision on a new president will be up to the trustees.

Groves, former dean of the law faculty at the University of Washington in Seattle, became president of Central State in 1965.

Groves declined comment on his future plans.

Ex-Bar Chief Pleads Guilty

CLEVELAND (AP) — Elmer C. Myers, 56, former president of the Cuyahoga Bar Association, pleaded guilty Wednesday to four counts of embezzlement and forgery.

Central State Prexy Resigns

CLEVELAND (AP) — The president of Central State University resigned Wednesday and an 11-member committee, including two students, will be asked to pick a successor by Aug. 15.

The resignation of Dr. Harry E. Groves was accepted by the university board of trustees meeting here. He cited the ill health of his wife, Evelyn, a patient at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston.

Groves, 46, resigned once last year during racial disturbances at the predominantly Negro school in Wilberforce, but changed his mind a month later.

The selection committee for a successor will be appointed by John H. Bustamante, chairman of the university trustees. It will include five trustees, three faculty members, one alumnus and two students.

Final decision on a new president will be up to the trustees. Groves, former dean of the law faculty at the University of Washington in Seattle, became president of Central State in 1965.

Groves declined comment on his future plans.

Ex-Bar Chief Pleads Guilty

CLEVELAND (AP) — Elmer C. Myers, 56, former president of the Cuyahoga Bar Association, pleaded guilty Wednesday to four counts of embezzlement and forgery.

Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Judge Harry Jaffe referred the case to the probation department for a report.

Myers was indicted in 1966 on 11 counts of embezzlement and forgery involving estates in his trusteeship under probate court. The state said Myers, of High-

Dear Abby: Girl in Trouble Needs Mother

DEAR ABBY: I go to a private school and share a room with a girl I'll call Mary. She is a lovely girl from a very good family. She started going with a boy who goes to a prep school near here. I guess you could call it "love at first sight." They saw an awful lot of each other. Too much, really.

Well, Mary finally broke down and told me she was "worried." She thinks she's pregnant. She hasn't gone to a doctor and won't go to one because she's afraid her folks will find out. She won't tell her boy friend. I'm the only person she has told, and I promised her on my life I wouldn't say a word to anyone.

Abby, she is starving herself to keep thin and she cries all the time. What can I do to help her?

MARY'S FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Implore Mary to tell her mother at once. If you do nothing more in your young life than to persuade Mary that in time of trouble her parents are her best friends and stand ready to help her, no matter what her problem is, you will have earned a star in your crown. If you fail, please ask her to write to me.

DEAR ABBY: There is a new assistant clergyman at our church who seems to be very popular with the young people. I was shocked and disappointed last Sunday to see him standing out in front of the church right after services smoking a cigarette.

This bothered me so much that I wrote him a note telling him I thought he was setting a bad example for the young

Oceanographic Ship To Seek Gold, Oil in Ocean

By RALPH DIGHTON
AP Science Writer

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — The world's most scientific drilling ship sails June 15 on an 18-month voyage across two oceans seeking long-buried treasures of vast potential to man's mind and purse.

The 400-foot Scripps Institution of Oceanography vessel will draw on craft orbiting in space for navigational guidance and warning of storms as it probes in record depths in the primordial ooze that covers seven-tenths of the planet.

Dr. Melvin N. A. Peterson, chief scientist for the National Science Foundation's Deep Sea Drilling Project, says the goals are both academic and practical.

The ship could find:

1. Clues to new oil fields believed bigger than any yet tapped from the continents and their fringes.

2. Precious metals—gold, silver and manganese—strewn in nodules, possibly layer upon layer for miles on either side of giant cracks in the earth's crust.

3. A history of earth, recorded in the sediments built up through the ages by the "snow-fall" of plant and animal matter from the surface to the ocean floor.

Although the $12.5-million project is primarily scientific, he says, it is frankly aimed also at proving the economic benefits to be gained from exploring the ocean and its floor.

Although the ship is rigged much like those that drill for oil in the comparatively shallow waters of continental shelves, officials are hoping fervently they will not actually find oil.

Striking oil—and the gases captive in underground pools—could release a gigantic bubble to rise up through the ocean and burst at the surface, tossing the 10,500-ton ship like a raft caught in a hurricane.

"Chances are the ship would capsize," says Peterson.

"We are taking every possible precaution against finding oil, even though locating possible oil-bearing areas is one of our major goals. If our core drill bites into anything that looks like oil sands we'll pull out and move off in a hurry."

The Scripps project calls for drilling 40 to 60 holes as deep as 2,500 feet in depths as great as 20,000 feet in the Atlantic and Pacific. Aboard the ship will be 75 scientists, engineers and crewmen—including expert geologists and drillers.

Peterson believes rich deposits of minerals may lie on the slopes of the great rises—much like mountain ranges—jutting up from the floors of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

One of the goals of the project is to take samples of the sediment on the slopes.

The ship that will make this possible is the Glomar Challenger, due to sail June 15 from Orange, Tex., on its maiden voyage. The latest thing in drilling ships, it has a 142-foot-tall derrick over a 20x22-foot center well through which as much as 23,000 feet of five-inch pipe can be lowered to core into the ocean floor.

Peterson says this will be the longest drill string ever suspended from a ship or floating platform.

Cores from the rotary-drilled holes will be pulled up continuously through the drill pipe.

These cores will be the real prizes of the expedition. From the layers of sediment scientists hope to be able to reconstruct the history of the plants by dating the fossil remains of plants and animals which have died and fallen to the ocean bottom.

When evidence of oil or mineral wealth are found, the locations will be marked and the information released to industry. The ship's first drilling test will come about July 1, when it will start coring into some mysterious humps dead center in the Gulf of Mexico. The humps, 10,000 feet below the surface of the ocean, are known to oceanographers as the Sigsbee Knolls and are believed to be salt domes formed by the pressure of sediment slowly sliding down the slopes of the Gulf basin.

Later the ship will move out into the Atlantic and on to the Pacific to test a spectacular new concept that the ocean floors are expanding outward from the great undersea rises and spreading the continents apart at a rate of an inch or so a year.

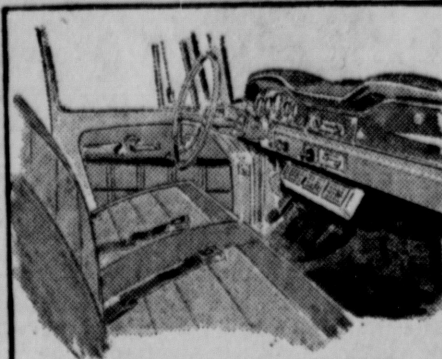

The theory is that all the continents once were a single land mass and split up and began to drift apart some 200 million years ago. It is based on the way the opposite coastlines of the Atlantic Ocean seem to match, like the opposite shores of a river. The fact that the opposite coastlines of the Pacific do not match is sometimes explained as being due to an ancient land collapse in the middle of that much wider ocean.

If you fail, please ask her to write to me.

DEAR ABBY: There is a new assistant clergyman at our church who seems to be very popular with the young people. I was shocked and disappointed last Sunday to see him standing out in front of the church right after services smoking a cigaret.

This bothered me so much that I wrote him a note telling him I thought he was setting a bad example for the young people, and if he had to have a smoke he should at least wait until he could do it behind closed doors. He telephoned me and told me that he wasn't "proud" of his smoking habit, but he had it bad, and he would be more ashamed sneaking a smoke in private than smoking in public. What is your opinion?

CHURCHGOER
DEAR CHURCHGOER: I admire the young clergyman's honesty, but I deplore his weakness.

DEAR ABBY: The gals in our bridge club invite your opinion or comments about a person who sends a strange substitute in her place when she cannot attend without mentioning it to the hostess.

We have one member in our group who always does this. Afterwards she says that she owed "so and so" an invitation, and this is how she pays back her social obligation. We have never heard of this, and we all feel that if one of our members cannot come, we would prefer inviting our own substitute. (We all have friends to whom we "owe" an invitation.)

Several of us have gone to the door when we entertain the bridge club to meet a complete stranger who announces that she has come to substitute for "Framie."

What do you suggest?

BRIDGE GALS
DEAR GALS: I suggest that you "gals" get together and vote on the method for providing a substitute should a member be unable to attend. Then give Framie the word, and if she doesn't observe the rules, give her the gate.

DEAR ABBY: I did what you advised the mother of a teen-aged daughter to do. I gave up nagging at her about her messy room and simply closed her bedroom door.

Today, my once-sloppy teen-aged daughter is a married woman, and I can't believe what a terrific little housekeeper she has turned out to be.

When I visited her one day last week, I draped my sweater over a chair. She very indignantly said, "Mu-thurr, please let me hang up your sweater—you are messing up my whole house!"

Eisenhower Said Progressing Well

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is "progressing satisfactorily" from the mild heart attack he suffered April 29, Walter Reed Army Hospital said today.

Eisenhower was transferred to Walter Reed Tuesday from the hospital at March Air Force Base in California. He suffered the attack at his winter home in Palm Desert, Calif.

The 77-year-old former president was accompanied by four doctors during the transcontinental flight to Washington. He had a noon meal aboard the specially equipped Air Force jet.

STAMP OUT SMOKING — These four men were part of a team that held a series of discussions at school assemblies on the danger of smoking. They are, from the left, Ralph Starkey, Pastor Carl Zehner, Paul Starr and George Hamrick. Not present when the photo was taken was Dr. William Myers, the fifth member of the team.

'Smoking and Cancer' Talks Completed in Local Schools

A team of five community leaders recently completed a series of school assemblies entitled "Smoking and Cancer." Dr. William A. Myers, coordinator of the group, presented facts and figures about the dangerous effects of smoking in relation to body health. Not only did Dr. Myers present warnings about cancer, but also about heart disease, lung disorders, dangers to premature births and other smoking connected health hazards. Dr. Myers interspersed his and his colleagues presentations with many slides used to emphasize facts and ideas presented. Pastor Carl Zehner of Trinity Lutheran Church addressed the youth groups about religion, morality and smoking. The Reverend Foster Jenne of the Emmett Chapel Methodist Church has substituted in this capacity several times. These men emphasized the God-given responsibility to take care of our body and to maintain our health standards. Ralph Starkey, executive secretary of the Pickaway County Child Welfare Services, presented the commercial and advertising facts of the smoking industry. He told about the advertising saturation program used by the tobacco companies to encourage young people to smoke. Paul Starr, head football coach at Circleville High School, appealed to the boys and girls about the physically damaging effects of smoking. Starr emphasized the need to have the body in top condition to participate in competitive sports. He related the dangers of smoking on the breathing apparatus, heart functions as well as the dangers of cancer. George Hamrick, Pickaway County Agricultural Extension Agent, represented the agricultural part of the smoking-cancer problem. Hamrick emphasized that tobacco is one agricultural product which the U.S. government labels as being possibly dangerous to health of user.

These five men have donated many hours of time and effort to present their panel to elementary, junior and senior high school youth in both city and county school systems. These men have recently been commended for their services by the Pickaway County Unit, American Cancer Society.

Stokes Says Cleveland's Renewal Plan on Schedule

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mayor Carl B. Stokes said Wednesday his ambitious "Cleveland Now" program is right on schedule to raise $177 million in the next 18 months.

"We are well on our way," Stokes said in his "State of the City" address at the 71st meeting of the Citizens League.

The mayor told more than 800 persons that:

— The Greater Cleveland Growth Association has assured him that $10 million, raised through corporate contributions, will be available to the city "just as fast as we are ready to use it."

— The $1.25 million public solicitation being run by Group 66, a civic organization, has surpassed its goal and the drive will continue until May 24.

— That $74.8 million in federal funds is either in hand or committed to the city. This is more than one-half of the $143 million commitment in federal money.

— That $750,000 is business donations for a summer youth opportunity program, including a summer arts festival, has been raised.

on City Council to hike Cleveland's one half of one per cent income tax to a full one per cent.

In listing accomplishments of his administration's first six months in office, Stokes said: "Perhaps the most significant is the fact that while many major cities rioted after the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Cleveland remained calm."

Stokes said, however, it would be "disastrous" for anyone to think Cleveland could not have racial rioting simply because he's a Negro.

The mayor said Negroes did not riot "because they have hope, and belief, that things will now be different."

Among the administration's accomplishments, Stokes listed improvements in police operations which have brought a decrease in crime, restoration of $12 million in urban renewal funds by the federal government and creation of a city-county port authority.

Stokes' "Cleveland Now" plan is a 10-year, $1.5 billion program for total redevelopment of the city.

Producers Livestock Sets
Changes in Northern Sites

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Producers Livestock Association has announced it is discontinuing its livestock marketing services at the Union Stockyards in Cleveland as of the end of May, and transferring its Cleveland staff to Findlay. The cooperative owns and operates a large, modern facility at Findlay.

Gerald L. Hiller of Columbus, general manager of the consolidated association, explained that most of the farmers who have been taking their livestock to his association in Cleveland live within reasonable distances of the farmer-owned markets at Findlay, Bucyrus or Mount Vernon, or the smaller markets at Orrville, Woodville and Ottawa.

The Orrville market, which has been under supervision of the Cleveland staff, is being transferred to jurisdiction of the Mount Vernon market. Woodville, also developed and managed out of Cleveland, goes with the Findlay market.

Land and buildings owned at Greenwich are being retained by the association, but no service is contemplated at that local at this time. Ottawa is a Findlay branch.

Hiller said livestock marketing has undergone major changes since Producers began business at the terminal in Cleveland in 1923.

The metropolitan area has expanded greatly, making transportation to the Union Stockyards more time-consuming. Most of the packing plans which formerly were situated in the city have moved away.

He said being near rail facilities is much less important than in past years, and that the interior markets owned by Producers are adjacent to or easily accessible to major highways.

Hiller said concentrating a larger livestock volume at fewer locations will increase efficiency and reduce costs. He noted that all of the interior markets are under state or federal supervision as to rates, marketing practices, maintenance of facilities and other aspects of marketing, and they are public markets open to all farmers.

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Tad Mosel, a good and perceptive playwright, obviously had something he wanted to say about the individual's right to privacy when he turned out "Secrets."

Somewhere between the conception of the play and its production Wednesday night as a 90-minute "CBS Playhouse" dramatic special, there occurred a slight shift in emphasis. The result was an interest-holding well-produced and beautifully acted story about the destruction and near destruction caused by a woman's driving curiosity.

The play concerned a successful business man in his middle years who was on jury duty but asked to be excused from a case while refusing to explain his reasons. It was a case involving an actress accused of attacking her son.

The reaction of Bryan Gray was reported to his wife and colleague-age daughter by an acquaintance, and this set off a chain reaction since he still refused any explanation.

His wife, unable to pry any explanation out of him, began to suspect some terrible dark episode in his past—and playwright Mosel rather deliberately led the audience up the same path with its rather explicit information about the perverse nature of the victim in the assault case.

The wife's ferreting and the husband's silence combined to almost wreck the marriage of 21 years. The man's partner, goaded by the wife into an indiscreet confession, was destroyed. There was a lot of talk about secrets and people all along and finally we were allowed to learn our hero's.

It seems that as a young soldier on furlough he had spent a 10-day furlough with an actress having the same name as the defendant in the assault case, and he feared it was the same woman and that the son was his.

Arthur Hills played the unhappy husband as a rather remote but good and responsible man. Barbara Bel Geddes, as the wife, portrayed her from the outset as a rather outgoing nosy type interested in everybody around her including the neighbors.

Barbara Hershey, a talented young actress, was the daughter fending off her mother's probing about her dates with an older man. Eileen Heckart played the small but interesting role of the tough aging actress.

Mosel's main point was summed up with his hero's statement that "once in a while there are some things that have to be thought through alone... private things." It did seem that the whole thing was a tempest in a teapot and that any sensible man, seeing his marriage dissolving, would have told his wife of the episode that occurred long before his marriage. But that wouldn't have made a 90-minute play.

Krabach Gets Cincy Post
Over Protest by Minority

CINCINNATI (AP)—The six-man Republican majority on City Council officially voted Richard Krabach Cincinnati city manager Wednesday over vigorous protests by Council minority members.

In Columbus, Krabach submitted his resignation as Ohio finance director, effective June 30, to Gov. James A. Rhodes who accepted it and wished him good luck.

Krabach, 53, finance director since 1963, will make $40,000 plus a $5,000 expense account as manager. He succeeds William Wichman, who resigned in mid-April to become a consultant to a city business.

Krabach scheduled a news conference here today at 10 a.m.

"He is looked upon as the leading public money manager in the United States," Rhodes said. "He had designed and implemented a system of budget control that is being copied by many other states."

Krabach will be replaced by Howard L. Collier, state budget director.

Council's action Wednesday amounted to a formality as the body, acting as a committee of the whole, voted Tuesday to recommend Krabach for appointment and merely voted on its own proposal.

The three minority members of the nine-man council, Charles Charles Taft and Myron Bush, and Democrat John Gilligan, termed Krabach's selection a political move.

Making a statement on behalf of the dissenters, Taft said the appointment was a "purely political choice by Gov. James Rhodes and his associate Earl Barnes," who was recently named chairman of the Hamilton County Republican Party.

Gilligan objected to the Republican majority converting "The most important governmental position in Cincinnati into the biggest and juiciest patronage plum in the state."

Gilligan claimed the manager-designate knows "how and why he got the appointment" and "undoubtedly knows further what he will have to do to keep the job."

Republican Mayor Eugene Ruehlmann condemned the minority for making a "travesty" of the Council's selection procedures, for discrediting a "highly capable man" and for "farfetched" tactics.

1 Million Oldsters
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio has nearly one million residents who are at least 65 years old. The state Office on Aging says 5,097 persons recently joined the ranks of "senior citizens," boosting the total to 988,928, a 10.3 per cent increase over the 1960 census figure.

Raiders ordered five gallons of gasoline at the station, received stamps and "Pay Day" giveaway game slips, and ordered a six-pack of beer. When the service attendant brought the beer, the station was cited.

Views on Television

NEW YORK (AP) — Tad Mosel, a good and perceptive playwright, obviously had something he wanted to say about the individual's right to privacy when he turned out "Secrets."

Somewhere between the conception of the play and its production Wednesday night as a 90-minute "CBS Playhouse" dramatic special, there occurred a slight shift in emphasis. The result was an interest-holding well-produced and beautifully acted story about the destruction and near destruction caused by a woman's driving curiosity.

The play concerned a successful business man in his middle years who was on jury duty but asked to be excused from a case while refusing to explain his reasons. It was a case involving an actress accused of attacking her son.

The reaction of Bryan Gray was reported to his wife and college-age daughter by an acquaintance, and this set off a chain reaction since he still refused any explanation.

His wife, unable to pry any explanation out of him, began to suspect some terrible dark episode in his past—and playwright Mosel rather deliberately led the audience up the same path with its rather explicit information about the perverse nature of the victim in the assault case.

The wife's ferreting and the husband's silence combined to almost wreck the marriage of 21 years. The man's partner, goaded by the wife into an indiscreet confession, was destroyed. There was a lot of talk about secrets and people all along and finally we were allowed to learn our hero's.

It seems that as a young soldier on furlough he had spent a 10-day furlough with an actress having the same name as the defendant in the assault case, and he feared it was the same woman and that the son was his.

Arthur Hills played the unhappy husband as a rather remote but good and responsible man. Barbara Bel Geddes, as the wife, portrayed her from the outset as a rather outgoing nosy type interested in everybody around her including the neighbors.

Barbara Hershey, a talented young actress, was the daughter fending off her mother's probing about her dates with an older man. Eileen Heckart played the small but interesting role of the tough aging actress.

Mosel's main point was summed up with his hero's statement that "once in a while there are some things that have to be thought through alone... private things." It did seem that the whole thing was a tempest in a teapot and that any sensible man, seeing his marriage dissolving, would have told his wife of the episode that occurred long before his marriage. But that wouldn't have made a 90-minute play.

Monroe Slates Registration for Pre-Schoolers

Monroe Twp. has scheduled pre-school registration for students entering the first grade next year from 9 to 11 a.m. Tuesday.

County health personnel will be present that day to give necessary inoculations. A birth certificate and immunization record should be brought to the school.

Children must be six years old on or before Sept. 30 to enter school. If they are six between Oct. 1 and Dec. 31, readiness tests may be taken, but must be requested through the county superintendent's office.

Entrance into school would then be determined by the test.

Enforce Law On Gambling To the Limit

CLEVELAND (AP) — State liquor agents raided a service station in Fairview Park Wednesday and filed a charge of possession of gambling devices—giveaway game slips.

Liquor agents were involved because the owners of a Standard Oil Co. of Ohio (Sohio) station also had a liquor permit.

Cited was Catalano's Beverage, a beer and wine carryout counter in Catalano's Service Station.

State Liquor Director Donald D. Cook said in Columbus his agents would raid any service station whose operators hold a liquor permit and participate in oil company giveaway program.

Raiders ordered five gallons of gasoline at the station, received stamps and "Pay Day" giveaway game slips, and ordered a six-pack of beer. When the service attendant brought the beer, the station was cited.

Krabach Gets Cincy Post Over Protest by Minority

CINCINNATI (AP)—The six-man Republican majority on City Council officially voted Richard Krabach Cincinnati city manager Wednesday over vigorous protests by Council minority members.

In Columbus, Krabach submitted his resignation as Ohio finance director, effective June 30, to Gov. James A. Rhodes who accepted it and wished him good luck.

Krabach, 53, finance director since 1963, will make $40,000 plus a $5,000 expense account as manager. He succeeds William Wichman, who resigned in mid-April to become a consultant to a city business.

Krabach scheduled a news conference here today at 10 a.m.

"He is looked upon as the leading public money manager in the United States," Rhodes said. "He had designed and implemented a system of budget control that is being copied by many other states."

Krabach will be replaced by Howard L. Collier, state budget director.

Council's action Wednesday amounted to a formality as the body, acting as a committee of the whole, voted Tuesday to recommend Krabach for appointment and merely voted on its own proposal.

Mark Kroll Gets Prison Sentence

CHICAGO (AP)—Mark Kroll, a Cincinnati, Ohio businessman convicted of stealing more than $150,000 from a Chicago insurance company he controlled, was sentenced Wednesday to one to three years in prison.

Judge Reginald Holzer, who conducted the trial of Kroll, 48, without a jury, permitted the defendant to remain free on his own recognizance pending appeal of the conviction and sentence.

Kroll and Harold Peck, 47, also of Cincinnati, a co-defendant who is to be tried later, are accused of siphoning the assets of the Oxford General Casualty Mutual Insurance Co., which is no longer in business.

Producers Livestock Sets Changes in Northern Sites

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Producers Livestock Association has announced it is discontinuing its livestock marketing services at the Union Stockyards in Cleveland as of the end of May, and transferring its Cleveland staff to Findlay. The cooperative owns and operates a large, modern facility at Findlay.

Gerald L. Hiller of Columbus, general manager of the consolidated association, explained that most of the farmers who have been taking their livestock to his association in Cleveland live within reasonable distances of the farmer-owned markets at Findlay, Bucyrus or Mount Vernon, or the smaller markets at Orrville, Woodville and Ottawa.

The Orrville market, which has been under supervision of the Cleveland staff, is being transferred to jurisdiction of the Mount Vernon market. Woodville, also developed and managed out of Cleveland, goes with the Findlay market.

Land and buildings owned at Greenwich are being retained by the association, but no service is contemplated at that local at this time. Ottawa is a Findlay branch.

Hiller said livestock marketing has undergone a major changes since Producers began business at the terminal in Cleveland in 1923.

The metropolitan area has expanded greatly, making transportation to the Union Stockyards more time-consuming. Most of the packing plans which formerly were situated in the city have moved away.

He said being near rail facilities is much less important than in past years, and that the interior markets owned by Producers are adjacent to or easily accessible to major highways.

Hiller said concentrating a larger livestock volume at fewer locations will increase efficiency and reduce costs. He noted that all of the interior markets are under state or federal supervision as to rates, marketing practices, maintenance of facilities and other aspects of marketing, and they are public markets open to all farmers.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — If ice cream parlor chairs are of value to antique collectors, then Milwaukee County has found a bonanza in an attic. Howard A. McMillan, the county's purchasing agent, said Tuesday 325 wire-back chairs were found stored in an attic of a county-owned building. McMillan said officials don't know how or when the county acquired the chairs.

Javier's Homer Wins for Cards

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Julian Javier will never be mistaken for Babe Ruth... but the slender St. Louis Cardinal is the Sultan of Swat today in the starry eyes of a McKeesport, Pa., youngster.

Javier borrowed a page from the Ruth legend Wednesday night after a hospital visit to 6-year-old Mark Sandusky, whose legs were crushed in a recent automobile accident.

The boy, who might never walk normally again according to his doctors, asked Javier to hit a home run for him in the Cards' game at Pittsburgh.

Javier obliged in the fourth inning, slamming his first homer of the season to back Steve Carlton's four-hit pitching and give the Cardinals their second successive 1-0 victory over the Pirates.

"I wasn't thinking about it," Javier said afterward. "But when I was running around the bases, I thought, 'Look what I did!'"

The Chicago Cubs caught Los teas Valley was defeated by Franklin Heights, 10-0, Tuesday in a Metropolitan League baseball game.

Five of the Franklin Heights runs came in the fourth inning with two men out after a pop fly in the infield was dropped.

Van Gregg was the losing hurler. He went the route, whiffing six and walking two.

Dan Landis, Franklin Heights' outstanding hurler, was the winner. He fanned 14, walked three and was touched for just one hit, a single by Gary Souther.

LANDIS has been selected to pitch in the East-West All-Star high school baseball game. There were eight big league scouts at the baseball game to watch the Franklin Heights pitcher according to Russ Gregg, Viking coach.

The next league game for the Vikings is Friday at Whitehall.

Angelo from behind 5-3, Cincinnati trimmed the ew NYork Mets 3-0 and San Francisco topped Houston 7-3 in other National League action. The Atlanta-Philadelphia game was rained out.

Javier, the Cardinals' slick-fielding second baseman, hit Steve Blass' first pitch in the fourth inning into the light tower next to the left field scoreboard at Forbes Field.

Carlton held Pittsburgh hitless until the fifth and nursed the one-run edge all the way for his fourth victory against one loss. The tall southpaw struck out six and allowed only one runner to reach second base.

Dick Nen, a former Dodger, beat his old teammates with a two-run pinch hit single in the ninth, capping a three-run Chicago rally. Nen delivered the winning hit after Randy Hundley's run-scoring single tied the game.

Losing pitcher Jim Grant checked the Cubs on five hits until the ninth and slugged his first National League homer, a two-run shot in the third. Ernie Banks tied it with a two-run double in the fourth, but committed a seventh inning throwing error before Wes Parker's sacrifice fly sent the Dodgers in front 3-2.

George Culver blanked the Mets on seven hits and the Reds, who had dropped six of their previous seven starts, pounded loser Jerry Koosman and two relievers for 13.

The first of Tommy Helms' three singles drove in the only run Culver needed in the Reds' two-run second inning. Vada Pinson scored the second run on a single by Leo Cardenas and doubled another run home in the eighth.

Willie Mays' 571st career homer—a two-run blast in the first inning—triggered San Francisco's victory over the Astros. With Ollie Brown's two-run single keying a four-run burst in the sixth, the Giants built the lead to 7-0 before Doug Rader hit a three-run homer for Houston in the seventh.

Gaylord Perry picked up his fourth victory against two setbacks, but needed ninth inning help from Frank Linzy as the Giants beat the Astros for the 31st time in their last 34 meetings at Candlestick Park.

OU Favored To Capture 15th Mid-American Golf Crown

ATHENS, O. — Kermit Blosser is turning out another big winner at Ohio University.

Blosser is the golf coach at Ohio and has been since the sport began in 1947. And Blosser, who never played much golf himself prior to being named coach, will be aiming for his 15th Mid-American Conference title in 18 years next week at Kent State.

The Bobcats will enter the MAC championships with a 15-5 dual meet record plus a victory in the Mid-American Invitational and a fine seventh place finish in the Northern Intercollegiate last week. Blosser has a present 282-93-11 dual meet record, a sparkling 730 percentage.

While watching Ohio finish with a 26 stroke victory in the Mid-American Invitational, one veteran MAC coach raised his hands in disgust and said: "It's silly for the rest of us to even show up at the conference meet with Blosser around."

But Blosser is not using a Dow Finsterwald to anchor the team this year. Instead, exceptional balance through the first seven or eight men has been the key for the Bobcats. In the M-A Invitational the top six Bobcats were within 10 shots of each other while finishing with a spiffy 72.4 team average, 1.4 strokes over par.

This balance could pay off in the MAC at Kent with 36 holes scheduled Friday and a final 18 on Saturday.

Junior Ludwig Schenk, Mansfield Malabar, and senior Jim Nordstrom, Ashland, lead the Bobcat golfers with 75.2 and 76.2 averages respectively. Schenk won the M-A Invitational with a four-under-par 68-70-138 and then finished ninth in the Northern Intercollegiate with a 296 total (74 average).

Rounding out the probable lineup for the MAC meet are seniors Hal Ward, Franklin; and Bruce Helwigen, Circleville; junior Bill Monnett, Gallon and sophomore Greg Moore, Athens. All four ll-ksters are averaging between 77.0 and 77.8. Nordstrom, Schenk, Helwigen, Dave Deever, Ashland, and sophomore Roger Krupa (Akron) have had rounds of 69 this spring.

Tim Dickinson of Circleville is averaging 79.2 a round. He has won two and lost four matches this year playing for the OU golf squad.

Javier's Homer Wins for Cards

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Julian Javier will never be mistaken for Babe Ruth... but the slender St. Louis Cardinal is the Sultan of Swat today in the starry eyes of a McKeesport, Pa., youngster.

Javier borrowed a page from the Ruth legend Wednesday night after a hospital visit to 6-year-old Mark Sandusky, whose legs were crushed in a recent automobile accident.

The boy, who might never walk normally again according to his doctors, asked Javier to hit a home run for him in the Cards' game at Pittsburgh.

Javier obliged in the fourth inning, slamming his first homer of the season to back Steve Carlton's four-hit pitching and give the Cardinals their second successive 1-0 victory over the Pirates.

"I wasn't thinking about it," Javier said afterward. "But when I was running around the bases, I thought, 'Look what I did!'"

Dan Landis, Franklin Heights' outstanding hurler, was the winner. He fanned 14, walked three and was touched for just one hit, a single by Gary Southers.

LANDIS has been selected to pitch in the East-West All-Star high school baseball game.

There were eight big league scouts at the baseball game to watch the Franklin Heights pitcher according to Russ Gregg, Viking coach.

The next league game for the Vikings is Friday at Whitehall.

White Sox Lose, But Crowd Size Is Great

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer
The Chicago White Sox brought major league baseball back to Milwaukee and got a wet reception from the weatherman, an impartial one from the fans and a beating from the California Angels. Only the size of the crowd—23,510—made the trip worthwhile.

After all, it was the size of the crowds in Chicago—the largest has been 11,546 this season—that prompted the Sox to schedule nine regular season games in Milwaukee, the first there since the Braves moved in 1965.

The White Sox themselves, however, failed to impress. Most of the fans sat through the rain that began in the early innings and the 29-minute delay in the eighth to see Paul Schaul single home two runs in that inning and give the Angels a 4-2 victory over Chicago.

The weather played a part in reducing the rest of the American League schedule as only two other games were completed—Baltimore outslugged Detroit 10-8 and Boston held off Washington 6-4.

The Oakland game at Minnesota was rained out as was the New York game at Cleveland where the Yankees and Indians were tied 2-2 after 7½ innings.

The crowd at Milwaukee was quiet compared to the howling followers of the Braves, watched curiously as the Sox and Angels battled through seven innings tied 1-1.

Only Rick Reichardt, a college star at the University of Wisconsin, got a big hand from the fans, 45 of them his relatives and friends.

The players couldn't tell either from the crowd reaction who was the home team, and the Angels aroused some enthusiasm when they loaded the bases with none out against Bob Locker on Bob Rodgers' single, a double by Bobby Knoop and an intentional walk. Then came the delay, then came reliever Wilbur Wood then came Schaul for a victory.

Chuck Hinton of California and Tom McCraw of the Sox traded homers in the ninth inning for the final score.

The backers of the game were delighted at the turnout, considering the tornado warnings in the area until 6 p.m., the rain and local television of the game.

Claim 170 M.P.H. Needed at Indy

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — It's the consensus of 15 top drivers at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway that it will take a speed of more than 170 miles an hour to win the pole position in this year's Memorial Day 500-mile race.

That's faster than any lap has ever been run around the 2½-mile paved oval. The current qualifying record is 168.982 for the 10 miles and a best lap of 169.779 by Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., last year.

Derby Stewards Suspend Dancer's Image Trainers

BALTIMORE (AP) — Thoroughbred racing's tarnished Triple Crown could get some polishing today, depending on the mood of Peter Fuller, the owner of Dancer's Image.

Lou Cavalaris, the colt's trainer, and his assistant, Robert Barnard, were suspended by Churchill Downs stewards late Wednesday night as a result of an illegal pain-relieving drug that led to Dancer's Image's disqualification from the May 4 Kentucky Derby.

Fuller, who had left Louisville with Cavalaris en route back to Baltimore about an hour before the suspension was announced, told The Associated Press today he had not decided whether to enter his colt in Saturday's Preakness.

Entries for the race were due today.

Before the hearing began earlier this week, Fuller had said Dancer's Image would not run in the second jewel of the Triple Crown at Pimlico if Cavalaris was suspended. But Cavalaris has urged all the while that the colt run, no matter what his status as a trainer.

The three stewards indicated further investigation was merited and referred the matter to the Kentucky Racing Commission.

Fuller said he would appeal the decision to the commission in hope that Cavalaris would be able to train Dancer's Image during the course of his suspension.

After meeting nearly 48 hours behind locked doors, the stewards announced that Cavalaris and Barnard were forbidden to enter any race track through June 13.

They also officially announced that Dancer's Image, who finished first in the Derby by 1½ lengths over Calumet Farm's Forward Pass, was disqualified and placed last.

This made Forward Pass the Derby winner, gave the first money of $122,600 to Calumet Farm, and gave the colt a shot at becoming the first Triple Crown winner since Citation added a Belmont Stakes triumph to Derby and Preakness victories.

The investigation started when a post-Derby test disclosed a trace of phenylbutone, or a derivative of the analgesic, in the routine urine sample taken after the Derby.

MALIGNED AND HATED—This unusual view that perhaps might be from the sea bottom is a dandelion, from the ground up, waiting at Troy, Ohio, for the wind to lift off its seeds and float them elsewhere for next year's maligned and hated crop. The rich yellow and almost perfect contour of the bloom probably would make the dandelion a very valued flower if it were scarce and difficult to grow.

Derby Stewards Suspend Dancer's Image Trainers

BALTIMORE (AP) — Thoroughbred racing's tarnished Triple Crown could get some polishing today, depending on the mood of Peter Fuller, the owner of Dancer's Image.

Lou Cavalaris, the colt's trainer, and his assistant, Robert Barnard, were suspended by Churchhill Downs stewards late Wednesday night as a result of an illegal pain-relieving drug that led to Dancer's Image's disqualification from the May 4 Kentucky Derby.

Fuller, who had left Louisville with Cavalaris en route back to Baltimore about an hour before the suspension was announced, told The Associated Press during a stopover in Chicago early today he had not decided whether to enter his colt in Saturday's Preakness.

Entries for the race were due today.

Before the hearing began earlier this week, Fuller had said Dancer's Image would not run in the second jewel of the Triple Crown at Pimlico if Cavalaris was suspended. But Cavalaris has urged all the while that the kept the Tigers in the game until Motton unloaded in the eighth for a 10-6 lead.

Detroit loaded the bases in the ninth with none out, but got only two runs in a vain attempt to save Denny McLain's first loss after five complete game victories. Baltimore instead ended its seven-game losing streak.

Negroes Want To Run UC Grid Squad

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Negro football candidates at the University of California are boycotting spring practice, demanding the right to say who should play which position and when.

Coach Ray Willsey silently read their demands, presented by one athlete and one student non-athlete, declined them, and handed back the paper.

"I do not believe these prerogatives of a coach are negotiable," he said. "I cannot ignore my responsibilities."

He refused to give details of the demands.

He also refused to name any of the athletes.

"I will not initiate any name calling," he said today. "I don't want to appear to the public to be exposing them to criticism."

He said in a statement: "It will be a tragedy that competition will be denied to some outstanding young men because of their actions."

"These men, by not reporting for practice, are, in effect, removing themselves from the California football team."

Willsey said he has no idea when or if the Negroes will return. Football practice ends Saturday.

Pressed for a count, Willsey said 14 were out for spring drills and every one played in last Saturday's alumni game.

He said five or six were letter-men.

Most of the 14 missed Tuesday drills and all boycotted Wednesday's.

MALIGNED AND HATED—This unusual view that perhaps might be from the sea bottom is a dandelion, from the ground up, waiting at Troy, Ohio, for the wind to lift off its seeds and float them elsewhere for next year's maligned and hated crop. The rich yellow and almost perfect contour of the bloom probably would make the dandelion a very valued flower if it were scarce and difficult to grow.

Ohio Supreme Court Turns Down Appeal in Slaying

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A man convicted of murder and a jeweler who claims he lost $40,000 worth of jewels have been turned down in appeals to the Ohio Supreme Court.

The court unanimously refused Wednesday to review the life sentence meted out to Joseph Jones of Lorain, who was convicted on charges of first-degree murder and armed robbery in the shotgun slaying of Raymond Pounds.

Pounds was killed during a robbery Feb. 19, 1966, at the Convent Food Market in Lorain where he worked part-time.

Jones, driver of the getaway car that was wrecked, was convicted along with two other men. Mercy recommendations made life sentences mandatory and all three are in the Ohio Penitentiary.

Jeweler Irving A. Kaufman lost his appeal to the court from a $500 award against the Sheraton Mayflower Hotel, Akron, for loss of his case containing $40,000 of gems from the hotel safe in 1962.

The high court dismissed 6-0 the appeal by Kaufman and Continental Insurance Co. who contended the statutory $500 limit was unconstitutional. Presentation of a false claim check was blamed for the theft.

In other actions, the Supreme Court:

Refused to review lower court decisions of Miami County favoring Thomas R. Mote, agent of the American Casualty Co., Reading Pa., in a suit by Charles H. Vosler under a medical and hospitalization policy for hospital costs in the care of his wife who died Sept. 3, 1961. Lower courts sustained a demurrer by Mote on grounds that alleged promises about payments were not in writing.

Affirmed 6-1 decisions of Athens County appellate court allowing damage suit for personal injuries against other than assets of the estate of Earl Edwards, killed with two passengers in the collision of his car and another driven by Larry A. McMann, Columbus, on route 93 near Oak Hill in Jackson County Oct. 12, 1963.

Victims in addition to Edwards were Victoria and Heston Scarberry. Three other Scarberry children were injured. Claims by the Scarberrys included two wrongful death actions in addition to damage suits against the administrator and McMann.

The high court said the trial court acted properly in rejecting the wrongful death suits because of late filings but erred in sustaining the administrator's demurrers to petitions in the personal injury actions.

Educators See Revolution in Learning by 2000

By JACK MILLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of educators peering toward the year 2000 predict radical changes in the American way of living and learning in the generation ahead.

They foresee a greatly expanded system of education that would blend the wildly new with the distinctly old fashioned to produce a higher level of learning and culture.

The thinkers, headed by Dr. Louis L. Bright, research director of the U.S. Office of Education, laid the groundwork for two federally financed "future centers" recently announced. One is to be run by the Stanford Research Institute, Menlo Park, Calif.; the other by Syracuse University in New York.

In a series of interviews, the educators emphasized that their goal—and that of the centers—is to determine possibilities rather than plans. But they generally envision a society 30 years from now in which:

—Children will start school around age 3 and continue studying regularly throughout their lives.

—Adults in nearly all work classifications, including professionals and top executives, will have to be retrained about every 10 years because of the outpouring of new knowledge and because machines and computers will be taking over their jobs.

—Most students will attend the equivalent of two years of college.

—Youngsters and adults alike will use new techniques and materials which permit them to learn on their own, in or out of school.

—Traditional boundaries between school and work will be erased; work-study programs will be common.

—Subject matter will emphasize general principles and methods of thinking and learning rather than specialized information that quickly becomes outdated.

Dr. Groves Gets Cincy Position

CINCINNATI (AP)—The university of Cincinnati College of Law has appointed as professor Central State University's president who recently announced his resignation.

He is Dr. Harry Groves, who will join the law school in September after his resignation at the school in Wilberforce becomes effective Sept. 15.

Groves, who has served on law faculties of schools in Washington, Texas, North Carolina and Singapore, first announced his resignation from predominantly Negro Central State last November. But he withdrew it a month later because of "spontaneous outpouring of support."

Groves, 46, a Negro, ordered the school closed for two weeks during disturbances there and asked that National Guard troops be sent there to maintain order.

In announcing Wednesday his second resignation from the post he has held since 1965, Groves cited the ill health of his wife as a contributing factor.

"We are delighted with the appointment of Dr. Groves, who is a teacher, scholar and administrator of international reputation," said Dr. Claude R. Sowle, dean of the UC law school.

—Students will be taught more about how to express themselves, how to get along with others and how to live fuller lives.

Starting youngsters in school at age 3 is expected, Bright says, because research has shown that the learning experience of children prior to normal school age has "a tremendous and permanent impact on their abilities to learn."

He said the change should raise the learning capacity of most children and greatly improve the performance of youngsters from poor backgrounds.

Mother's Milk Is Offered To Save Little Boy's Life

By JAMES RAGSDALE
Associated Press Writer

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Messages were pouring in here today from women across the country offering breast milk to a tiny Spokane baby whose life depends on it.

"The phone hasn't stopped ringing since last night. It's all just so wonderful," said 20-year-old Betty Madson, whose 3-month-old son Richard can survive only on human milk.

Mrs. Madson, unable to provide the milk, and her husband Lawrence Madson Jr., 21, issued the appeal for breast milk earlier this week. As a result of national publicity, an adequate temporary supply now appears available.

"You never think people like this are around until something like this happens to you," Mrs. Madson said.

Tiny Richard, who weighs only 8 pounds 9 ounces has, since shortly after birth, rejected all nourishment but human milk. Nothing else will work, said Mrs. Madson.

Richard has been hospitalized here and in Seattle for most of his young life, but now is at home. Mrs. Madson said Richard now consumes 36 ounces daily and likely will continue to improve as long as the milk supply lasts.

Telephone calls came Thursday morning and Wednesday night from women in Miami, Fla., San Bernardino, Calif., and San Francisco as well as from many sections of Oregon, Washington, Idaho and British Columbia.

In addition, Red Cross units in Detroit and Omaha, Neb., telephoned to say arrangements were under way with the Spokane Red Cross to ship emergency supplies of breast milk here. The Red Cross unit in Portland, Ore., was also attempting to make similar arrangements from donors there.

The educators expect a great increase in the amount and efficiency of learning from use of a technique, now in developmental stages, called Individually Prescribed Instruction—IPI.

The approach, which many educators believe will have a revolutionary impact on education, is to provide materials specially suited for each individual at his stage of learning. This requires great quantities of materials and the means of pulling out the right ones quickly.

It utilizes so-called programmed materials, which present the student a small amount of subject matter, test him immediately and let him know if he has mastered it.

Bright and his aides say the technique will break down the main barrier to adult education—the problem of getting a class of people together with a teacher to study the same subject at fixed times.

With IPI adults could study when they had free time, at a school or at home. IPI materials vary from printed sheets, pamphlets and books to a variety of visual and electronic devices to computers.

Institute of Defense Analyses Scientist Misunderstood

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — In an ivory-colored tower overlooking the Pentagon works a group of thinkers who feel much misunderstood and a bit besieged.

They work for the Institute for Defense Analyses and their job, not coincidentally, is to analyze. As its annual report says, "The basic objective of IDA is to provide an independent and objective source of studies and advice for the federal government and, in particular for the Department of Defense."

Now, after years of comfortable anonymity, IDA is a cause. Its initials scrawled on picket signs appear on campuses across the nation.

At universities associated with IDA—Columbia, Princeton and the University of Chicago for example—students demonstrate and demand that academic ties with IDA be severed. On the top floor of IDA's 10-story building, Norman L. Christeller, IDA vice president and general manager, complains:

"Students have very much distorted what we do... It's very frustrating to have so many people misled."

No napalm or nerve gas is made at IDA. Its scientists don't work in laboratories trying to develop new and more virulent germs for warfare. IDA has no laboratories.

Its building, one of many of like design built on the Virginia shore of the Potomac River in recent years, is a maze of monkish cubicles, each furnished with a desk, a couple of chairs and bookshelves—rooms designed to allow a man to think.

With very few exceptions, the thoughts of IDA men are considered very secret.

In the ground-floor lobby beyond a garden of plastic flowers and shrubs, a receptionist, backed by uniformed security guards, asks visitors to announce their business and produce their identification. Once cleared, the visitor needs a plastic tag and an escort to get beyond the lobby. You can wander through the corridors of the Pentagon easier than you can make it to the elevator at IDA.

The need for secrecy, Christeller said in an interview, causes some of IDA's (he pronounces it IDA, like the woman's name) troubles with students.

Whenever IDA projects are listed in unclassified publications, their titles are kept vague and uninformative. This is required to get them by Pentagon censors.

Unfortunately, Christeller said, groups such as Students for a Democratic Society, look at the project titles "and draw some rather explicit conclusions about what IDA must be doing."

Another IDA spokesman said, "It is the assumption of the leaders of SDS that IDA is strongly supporting, in its work, the prosecution of a war. That war happens to be in Vietnam... Their assumptions are based on guesswork."

Two other misconceptions Christeller says he finds in student protests are that IDA's work is done on campuses and that the institute draws large portions of its staff from its 12 sponsoring universities.

Both are incorrect, he claims. IDA employs work fulltime for the institute and are recruited from the same sources—private industry, universities, other research institutions and government—that other research firms draw upon for talent.

IDA was formed in 1956 after the Defense Department asked Massachusetts Institute of Technology to undertake weapons evaluation studies. MIT officials felt the project would be too big for one university and suggested that an independent institute be created. Five universities started out as member-sponsors and the group soon expanded to 12.

IDA spokesmen claim, with emphasis, that the universities contribute neither facilities, personnel nor money.

The 12 university presidents, or their representatives, sit on the IDA board of directors. They elect other board members.

In addition to MIT, the member-sponsors are the University of California, California Institute of Technology, Case Institute of Technology, University of Chicago, Columbia University, University of Illinois, University of Michigan, Pennsylvania State University, Princeton University, Stanford University and Tulane University.

IDA works only for the government.

Within the government it works primarily for people based across the street in the Pentagon, although in recent years IDA has taken on more and more nondefense work.

Right now, IDA is doing a study for the Department of Housing and Urban Development on the possibilities for achieving a breakthrough in reducing the cost of mass housing.

In describing his dealings with IDA's clients, Christeller often refers to himself and other institute executives as being "on the firing line."

He refers to pressure, often intense, to have IDA's analyses support a particular point of view. One method government officials use, says Christeller, is to so restrict the scope of a study so as to practically guarantee that it will support the government's position.

If the official refuses to remove the restrictions, IDA refuses to accept the contract, he says, adding that it is in such cases that the university backing becomes important.

"Because we have 12 university presidents behind us, we can command the attention of the secretary of defense," says Christeller.

HANOI'S CHIEF PEACE NEGOTIATOR, Xuan Thuy, tries a bit of baby-cuddling on a stroll in Paris, but the baby doesn't seem to be in the spirit of the situation.

Urge Broadcasting Be Publicized

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A massive advertising campaign "to proclaim what public broadcasting has to offer" is advocated by Ben Kubasik, director of the National Citizens Committee for Public Television.

Kubasik, speaking Thursday at a luncheon of the American Council for Better Broadcasts, said that public broadcasting "must be sold to the American people in the same totally professional manner that any product would be sold."

Two Retiring Teachers Honored at Lake White

By SUSAN CRITES

Two retiring teachers were honored at a banquet held Thursday at Lake White by the Circleville Teachers' Assn. The teachers are E. R. Bennett, biology instructor at CHS and Leslie Dearth, who teaches mathematics at Circleville Junior High School.

A native of Ross County, Mr. Dearth is a graduate of Centralia High School and Wittenburg University. He began his teaching career in Shady Glenn, a one-room school in Ross County, where he taught all subjects in grades 1-12. From there he went to Bunker Hill School and then to Centralia High School.

In 1942 he came to Pickaway County to teach seventh and eighth grades at Saltcreek Twp. School where he also coached basketball, softball and track. Between 1952-53 he served as principal of Adelphi High School where he was the only man teaching in the school. He returned to Saltcreek in 1955 and then came to Circleville Junior High School in 1955 where he has taught science and math.

Mr. Dearth said of his reason for choosing teaching as a career, "I saw the need for learning and wanted to help people to learn more in life."

WHEN asked if he thought students had changed much since he started teaching Mr. Dearth replied, "Yes, but so have the teachers. There have to be changes, in order for people to keep up with the times."

Mr. Dearth's plans for retirement include farming, fishing and selling real estate parttime. He resides with his wife Charlotte in Saltcreek Twp. and has two married daughters, Margie McMullen, a nurse, and Jean Dickershed, who is the head of the Child Development Department of Ohio State University.

Mr. Bennett's teaching philosophy, which began 37 years ago in a one room building in Lawrence County, is an unconscious pattern of his principal, coach and guidance counselor, the late C. O. Woods. Mr. Bennett has developed teaching techniques as well as a philosophy of life similar to Mr. Woods' but was unaware of the development for several years.

His outlook on teaching is brought about by a belief in honesty. "Society has changed and pupils are evaluating things differently from when I began teaching. Honestly, up to a few years ago, was taught in schools. It was expected. If a pupil is dishonest and gets caught, he lies. This is not right."

Mr. Bennett believes that society shapes pupils. "If children accept their parents' philosophy, you would have basically the same individual repeated."

In his high school years at Aid High School in Lawrence County, Mr. Bennett was first string on all sports teams. "But my grades were just average." In the midst of the Depression he attended Rio Grande College, Marshall University and was graduated from Ohio University with a bachelor of science degree in education. In college he was a member of the baseball and football teams.

His early teaching career was dotted with several different positions in several different schools. When war broke out, he joined the Ninth Army Artillery and was stationed in the Northern European Theater. He recalled following Gen. Patton through Normandy just six days after D-Day. He came out of the service as a captain.

He came to Circleville after the war with the hopes of coaching football. Before he left, formations on the gridiron were single and double wing and short punt. Now the T-formation was blooming and Mr. Bennett was interested in coaching. He landed the job of assistant coach at CHS.

"I planned to stay for a year or two, but my wife fell in love with Circleville. I never did regret staying here, although it did go against my principles of changing scenery every four or so years."

Mr. Bennett and his wife Geraldine reside at 528 N. Court St. Mrs. Bennett is active in real estate work and Chamber of Commerce. Their daughter, Susie, is in her first year at Virginia Intermont College, Bristol, Va., studying library science.

Retirement plans for Mr. Bennett include dealing in real estate and maintaining activities in raising horses. "I'll probably have plenty to keep me occupied. If I'm sitting, I'm thinking of something to do."

E.R. TOM BENNETT

He reports no desire to sleep late in future mornings. His farm background has adapted him to early rising. "I don't like to sleep late only when I've been up late the night before. I like to go to bed knowing I have accomplished something during the day."

Tootle Receives Appointment to Air Academy

The purpose of the Air Force Academy is to provide instruction, experience, and motivation to its cadets so that they will graduate with the knowledge, character, and qualities of leadership essential to their progressive development as career officers in the Air Force.

The required four-year program of instruction covers three broad areas—academic, military training, and physical

Senior Boys Take Placement Tests

Senior boys who are not college bound have been taking employment placement tests. The tests are a county wide project, which is coordinated with the Pickaway County Community Action Program. The tests were given by the Occupational Planning Center out of the Ohio State Employment Service.

The purpose of the tests was to help the students to find a job and to determine what jobs they are best suited for.

The boys were first interviewed and then they received a vision screening along with a medical review by the high school health department. The students then took the general aptitude test and the achievement test.

After the tests have been graded and scored they will be sent to the local businessmen which have participated in the program.

Jr.-Sr. Prom Well Received By Guests

By SUSAN DEMJEN

CHS gym was turned into a carnival Saturday night as the place for the Junior-Senior Prom. Students and guests danced in the gay carousel to the music of the "Classmates," who were at their best.

A trelace of gay tissue flowers was set outside for the entrance. Animal cages with "ferocious-looking" animals hung on the walls of the main hall. For an entrance to the gym, a ticket booth stood for registration of attendants. Once inside the gym, silhouette horses could be seen on the mylar background walls. The bandstand looked like a boatdock, with fish nets and shells. The food was heavenly with heaven as the scene at the food table. As little extras miniature, delightful carousels were set on tables as favor holders; torquise, yellow, and green sandwiches, which were served were eaten by the braver students.

After the prom, students rocked to the sound of "The Lapse of Time" in a psychedelic atmosphere of ultraviolet lights and glowing daises.

Teacher Feature

By SHARON JOHNSON and SANDY TRACY

Red and Black Staff members are honoring their adviser, Mrs. Janet Boggs, this week. She resides at 146 W. Mound St. with her husband, Mr. Charles Boggs.

Having taught 25 years, her classes include psychology, sociology, journalism, geography and American Government. A graduate of Jackson Twp. School, she taught in Fairfield County, Morgan County and Pickaway County school systems. She attended Western College for Women in Oxford where she majored in Social Studies and English. She was active in International Relations Club and the college newspaper. Mrs. Boggs now serves as advisor to the CHS senior class and also to the annual staff. Her philosophy of teaching is "that respect and trust is a two way street" between pupils and teachers.

When asked her opinion of CHS students and faculty Mrs. Boggs replied, "I think we have a great group of students and they are not really up to anymore than their parents were 20 years ago. The faculty members are most cooperative. Working with the annual staff and seniors I am sure that between photographing and class meetings their patience is tried many times."

History of Dissenters

By SUSAN DEMJEN

In a time of violators, protesters, peace marchers, draft dodgers, and demonstrators, teens need to "drop in" to society and not follow the very small publicized minority who believe in "dropping out."

Youth is disintegrating. "Youngsters of the land have a disrespect for their elders, a contempt for authority in every form. Violence is flourishing and crime of all kinds is rampant among our young people. The nation is in peril!" Sound familiar? This statement came from an Egyptian priest about 4,000 years ago.

It is too bad that the teens who become protesting individualists are the ones who receive the publicity and make it look like they stand for all teens. To curb this misbelief, situation. We should not protest because our parents are hand-better his inherited world situation. We should not protest because our parents are hand-ding us a troubled world; we should fight to make it a better place to live and a safer place for our children to grow up in. We aren't getting a hopeless world; Cain and Able even probably said that Adam and Eve had left them a terrible land!

Whalen Questions Air Force Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Charles W. Whalen, R-Ohio, has questioned an Air Force plan that would quadruple the estimated megatonnage now needed by enemy missiles to destroy underground missile complex's in the United States.

"Before we rush headlong into the creation of a $40 billion system at a time of serious financial crisis, we must assure ourselves that it is warranted," Whalen said Thursday.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

No 'Open Arms' for Rock Head

DEAR ABBY: Here are the facts: I have a 23-year-old son who went with a very pushy girl off and on all thru college. She kept pressuring him to marry her, but he said he wanted to graduate from college first. Just for spite, in her senior year she married somebody else.

She hasn't been married 3 months, and already she's after my son again. She wrote, saying she still loves him, made a mistake and is "considering" divorcing her husband. She meets my son on weekends and tells her husband she is going "home" to visit her parents.

What do you think of a girl who continues to live with her husband and sneaks around with her old boy friend? Am I being narrowminded in refusing to accept this girl with open arms when my son brings her to my home?

She has no shame. She writes love messages to him on postcards! My son says he may not marry her after all, but he is not about to turn down a good thing! What is your advice?

This is getting on my nerves something terrible because I was taught to respect my elders, so I can't say anything to contradict her, but it bothers me just the same. How can I handle this, Abby?

DAUGHTER-IN-LAW DEAR ABBY: Don't contradict her. When she says the baby looks just like Ronnie, say, "She certainly does. She has his features and MY fixtures."

DEAR ABBY: When I read the letter from the woman whose neighbor named her dog "Lester," which was the name of the man next door, I had to write:

Nearly 15 years ago, my father and I were living together alone, having just lost my mother about 6 months before.

One evening Dad heard someone calling "Junior, Junior." Since that is his nickname, he went to investigate, and discovered a neighbor woman calling her cocker spaniel.

Well, it couldn't have turned out better because she was attractive, single and very nice. A year and a half later my father married this woman.

Of course this woman had named her dog "Junior" before she met my father, but she couldn't have made a wiser choice.

She has been a wonderful wife to Dad, and wonderful "mother" to me, doggone it.

WILLIAMSPORT NEWS

By Ron Beatty — Phone 986-2581

The American Legion will install a horseshoe court at the Pavilion to be used in a tournament for local residents this summer. Plans are to move it to the park later. The tournament promises to be a lot of fun and the more entries the better. Horseshoes are pretty well standard now, but I can remember when a game was started when four shoes could be found, no matter what size or weight they were. It took a lot of skill to adjust from a shoe used on a big farm horse to one of a riding horse. Barn yard rules were used too. You got three points for a leaner and five points for a ringer. It was just as much fun then for a bunch of farm kids as the more sophisticated shoes and courts are today.

Mothers are pretty special and were honored Sunday. Grandmothers are special too and a friend of mine has an Irish grandmother you wouldn't believe. She and her family have a terrific sense of humor and enjoy life. She would often say that she would like to visit her sister left behind in Ireland. The family, knowing perfectly well she would never attempt such a trip, offered to buy her a ticket. "One way!", they would say. She always felt that she was going to leave this world at any moment. She wasn't morbid about it. She just felt that way. When she was 78, she picked out her pallbearers and gave instructions to each of them. Her sister in Ireland died. "It won't be long now", she said. Years passed. My friend left for the service. "I won't be here when you get back", she said. He came home on leave and left for overseas. "You'll never see me again", she said. She would have a prescription filled at the drugstore. "A very small bottle", she would say, "I don't expect to use them all". Three years later, my friend returned. "Are you still going to be my pallbearer?", she asked. "If you ever die!", he retorted. Ten years later, she is now sharp and bright at 98, but has had to make revisions on her pallbearer list.

A meeting will be held Tuesday, May 21 at 8 p.m. for people interested in forming a Kindergarten Class this fall. The meeting will be held at the Methodist Church annex. Registration is still open and a few more people needed. If you have a boy or girl that age or feel like starting over yourself, better scoot on up there.

Williamsporters travel far and wide on vacation. They see and do interesting things. Another friend of mine (I've got two), who happens to be a Circlevillian, decided he would like to see New Orleans and took off. Once there he saw a poster of a bullfight in Mexico and caught a bus heading that way. Traffic along the border in desert country was very light. The only scenery, after dusk fell, was an occasional rattlesnake slithering across the highway in front of the bus lights. Finally the driver stopped at an intersection. He told my friend that another bus would be along in a few minutes traveling south into Mexico. The bus roared off into the night. Now nothing was in sight in either direction. One hour passed. Nothing. He remembered the rattlesnakes. He turned his trunk on end and stood on it. Two hours, six hours... The bus came at 10 the next morning.

He had spent the entire night standing on top of his suitcase in the middle of the desert wishing he was home. Well, he got to Mexico and saw the bullfight... Paid $2 to sit in the shade. Seats in the sun were $1. His money ran out and he hitchhiked home over 2,000 miles. His next to last leg was a ride from Washington C.H. to Williamsport. He had three cents in his pocket which he blew on gum balls at Fry's Drugstore. He said he had a grand time, but you might want to plan ahead more than he did.

The Westfall Latin Club had a get together Wednesday night. The members wore togas and sandals and generally relived a Roman evening of dining and entertainment. I suppose they said Latin things to each other. Some schools have French Clubs, Spanish Clubs, etc. The only club we had when I was in school was the one the principal kept. I guess you'd call it an Indian Club. When anyone got hit, they said "ugh".

The art teacher at Jackson does a whole of a job and the kids really take an interest in it. They won first, second, and tied for third recently in a county-wide contest promoting nursing as a career. The only thing I haven't figured out yet is what abstracts represent, but I'm getting better. My girl brought one home the other night which I figured out as two toadstools and some trees in a pond filled with tadpoles. She said it was a storm at sea with a lighthouse in the distance. They're fun to try though.

Stock List Plummet

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market widened its losses in active trading this afternoon.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was down 7.22 to 896.50, making a decisive break below the psychologically important 900 level.

Losses outnumbered gains by about 450 issues on the New York Stock Exchange. Except for some of the very high-priced issues, declines ran generally from fractions to one or two points.

No fresh news was linked with the decline but rather an accumulation of developments — the soaring price for gold in world markets, the weakness of the British pound and U.S. dollar abroad, the postponement of action on the tax-spending measure, climbing interest rates, tight money and concern over the cost-price inflationary spiral.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 2.1 to 326.7, with industrials off 4.2, rails off .8, and utilities off .1.

Prices were irregular on the American Stock Exchange

Whiskey Truck Reported Stolen

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A truck with a load of Scotch whisky valued at about $70,000 retail was hijacked overnight from the foreign trade zone of the Port of Toledo, city police reported today.

The truck driver said he was to have driven the truck, carrying 851 cases of whiskey, to Wapakoneta this morning.

Student Unrest Continues in U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Delaware State College was closed today and Marquette University faced the possible loss of some faculty members as the fever of student ferment continued to grip campuses around the nation.

Trustees at the predominantly Negro state college in Dover, Del., ordered the school closed after about 200 students seized control of the administration building Thursday for several hours.

A new committee of trustees, faculty and students was formed to hear undergraduate grievances including a demand for the resignation of college President Dr. Luna I. Mishoe. National Guardsmen ordered in by Gov. Charles L. Terry Jr. remained on the 900-student campus overnight following the latest and most serious in a series of demonstrations. In Newark, Del., about 100 students at the University of Delaware took over the student center today to demonstrate sympathy for the Delaware state students. Later they submitted demands of their own to university officials. Marquette University in Milwaukee was involved in a continuing dispute over demands to hire a Negro administrator. Negro basketball players threatened briefly to withdraw from school.

The Rev. Bernard Cooke, a theologian, promised student protesters he and two other priests would quit if the 13,000-student Roman Catholic university did not meet their demands within 48 hours.

Police arrested seven students who had been sitting in at the student union. About 100 others gave up the sit-in just before the police arrived.

The university made no comment on either the withdrawal threat of the athletes or the threatened faculty resignations but the Rev. John P. Raynor, university president, said earlier Marquette will "not be governed by coercion."

Dr. Henry King Stanford, president of the University of Miami, promised scholarships for Negroes and new courses on the history of black people in an effort to cool disturbances there.

An activist group at the 16-'59 student university had staged a sit-in in Stanford's office Tuesday to demand 27 ethnic history-culture course and 200 scholarships.

Three schools in Brooklyn's experimental Ocean Hill-

Brownsville district were officially closed again today to all low tensions in the community to subside.

The local governing board has clashed with the citywide board of education over the power to hire and fire teachers and supervisors.

Burton Buys Liz 33.19 Carat Diamond

LONDON (AP) — Richard Burton doesn't need an occasion to buy his wife a present—such as a $305,000 diamond.

The Welsh actor just "gives presents because he likes giving them," his secretary, Richard Hanley, said today.

Burton bought the 33.19-carat diamond ring at a New York auction Thursday. It belonged to the late Mrs. Vera Krupp, second wife of one of the world's richest men, German steel magnate Alfred Krupp von Bohlen und Helbach.

Burton did not even surprise his beautiful wife.

"We knew about this sale," said Hanley. "Miss Taylor was very anxious that she should have it. So Mr. Burton has bought the diamond for Miss Taylor."

Swedish Survey Shows Things Just Happen

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Almost 80 per cent of young Swedes experienced their first sexual contact before marriage, said a scientific report published Thursday.

And among 1,300 young people interviewed in Stockholm only one boy and three girls said they had not had first intercourse until they were married.

The findings were reported by Prof. Joachim Israel of Uppsala University.

In a questionnaire of the 1,300, described by Israel as "normal youth," they were asked which partner had taken the initiative. To that, 15 per cent of the boys answered "the girl," while 10 per cent of the girls said "the boy."

But most of those interviewed, aged 16 to 25, replied: "It just happened."
